RESCUE 2 ENTOMBED MEN

RICHEAL'S SONS TESTIFY IN JOHNSON CASE

Testimony For Commonwealth Nears Conclusion

Expect That Defense Witnesses Will Go On Stand This Afternoon.

DEFENSE AGAIN OBJECTS TO CHAMBERS

Testimony Given In Court Similar To That At Preliminary Hearing.

At noon adjournment in court room number one today of the Lawrence County Court House it was apparent that the commonwealth was about through presenting testimony in the case against Clifford Johnson charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Joseph Richael.

Witnesses called this morning included Sheriff H. M. Reynolds, Dr. L. W. Wilson and William Richeal, the latter a 16-year-old son of Joseph Richeal, the deceased, the commonwealth's ace in this trial. By his testimony the commonwealth expects to prove that Clifford Johnson struck Joseph Richeal on the night of September 14, with a weapon of some sort. Cross examination of the boy revealed some small discrepancies in his testimony but in the main he maintained his original story.

Again Object to Chambers.

The defense continued their objection of yesterday to the active participation of Attorney James A. Chambers, assistant district attorney, in this case. The objection this morning was made in order to get it formally on the record.

"We have had much criticism in the past of the law and of the legal profession," said Mr. Gibson, "because of an attorney doing something for his client in a legal way, which may have secured what appeared to be an illegal end. Shall we send this jury back home with the knowledge that private counsel conducted the case for the district attorney, knowing as they do that he is retained by private individuals?

"If a judge on the bench accepted any outside gifts in connection with a case it would be grounds for his impeachment. So with a district attorney. If he accept any emoluments for his services other than the salary prescribed, it should be grounds for his impeachment. What shall we say then to private counsel, hired by private individuals, being appointed as assistant district attorney and conducting the case?"

Chambers' Reply.

In asnwer, Mr. Chambers said that the law was the same now as it had been, that both the gentlemen representing the defense had appeared as private counsel in cases and that there could be no objection to private counsel in a case, unless his conduct was such that it merited a reprimand from the court. Judge Hildebrand refused the motion of the defense to revoke the appointment and the case was resumed.

The court room was filled this morning, more spectators being present than have attended a trial in some time. Johnson's widowed mother and his sister occupy seats with him at the counsel table, while two more sisters have seats out in the auditorium of the court room.

Bank Merger Is Completed On Wednesday

BIG BANK BUILDING TO BE ERECTED SOON

Stockholders Of Safe Deposit And Trust Company Approve New Plan.

Stockholders of the National Bank of Lawrence County on Wednesday afternoon approved the agreement, under which the consolidation of that institution with the First National Bank, is effected. The agreement was approved November 30 by the stockholders of the First National Bank. It means that this city is to have a banking institution that will be one of the outstanding banking institutions of this section of the country. The consolidation is subject to the approval of the Comptroller of Currency.

Although plans have not yet been completed, it is understood that steps are now being considered looking toward the erection of a large and handsome bank building on the site of the present two national banks.

New Business Block.

This building is expected to be modern in every respect and when completed will be a monument to the progress of New Castle and a model structure from both an artistic and utilitarian point of view.

Stockholders of the Safe Deposit & Trust company met Wednesday afternoon and approved a change in name and the increase of the capital of the institution, which was also a part of the agreement for the consolidation of the National Bank of Lawrence County and the First National bank.

All present directors of the two national banks will continue on the directorate of the First National Bank of Lawrence County as the combined institutions will be known in the future. This would indicate the continuing of the officers of these institutions in similar positions in the First National Bank of Lawrence County and the continuing of the policies which have made these national banks outstanding financial institutions not only of this city but the entire county.

Official's Statement.

"At a meeting of the stockholders of the National Bank of Lawrence County held Wednesday afternoon, the consolidation agreement with the First National bank, stockholders of which ratified the agreemnet on November 30, was ratified. The consolidation will become effective immediately upon the approval of the comptroller of currency. This is expected about the end of the year, so that the First National Bank of Lawrence County, as the combined banking institutions will be known, may on the opening of business January 3, 1927, open as one institution.

"The capital of the consolidated banks will be $1,000,000, the surplus $1,000,000, while the undivided profits will amount to several hundred thousand dolars additional. It will thus be in a strong financial condition and will be amply able to carry on and amplify the business which has been so ably

Volunteer Workers Reach Two Miners Caught In Trap

HEROIC WORK DONE BY RESCUE SQUADS

Cave-in In Drift Of Reno Mine Traps Two Miners—Neither Is Injured.

Charles Walker, Gardner Stop and John Tanner, Allen street, this city, faced the horrors of a possible living death on Wednesday, when they were trapped in the Francis Reno coal mine, old Pittsburgh road for almost 12 hours. Squads of miners and farmers working in relays, rescued the entombed men just after midnight, none the worse for their experience. They had been entombed since noon.

According to Tom Forsythe who left the slope of the mine with a car of coal at noon yesterday, he started back into the pit and found the top of the roof had caved-in.

Gets Signal From Mine

He seized a pick and rapped on the car rails franctically to discover if the men had been killed by the fall or were alive. The trapped miners replied in similar manner.

Forsythe spread the alarm in the section dotted here and there by houses and within a short time a corps of rescuers, including women, with coffee and sandwiches, had gathered at the mine.

All afternoon, through a bitter cold and piercing wind, the men and boys dug fractically sinking holes into the earth above the passage way into the mine and when darkness arrived the men were still entombed.

Men and women who had not heard the news during the afternoon hurried to the mine, ready to

McDermott In Mellett's Office Before Shooting

(International News Service)

COURT HOUSE, CANTON, O., Dec. 16.—On the afternoon before the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton's vice crusading publisher, Pat McDermott walked into the newspaper office of the editor "to see him," Charles Gaston, circulation manager of the Canton Daily News, testified today at the trial of McDermott, for the Mellett murder.

Gaston said McDermott looked through the glass of Mellett's office and walked out.

"He was a slinky-looking character, so I happened to remember what he looked like," the witness testified.

"I didn't see him again until October 29, in the workhouse, after he was arrested."

Mrs. Catherine Barnes, recalled to the stand by defense counsel, spoke up for McDermott's sacrificial spirit while rooming at her home in Cleveland.

"We were giving a party and the police raided us," she testified. "There was just half an inch of liquor in one glass but the officers told me to go with them. McDermott stepped forward and said:

Senate Members Start Battle To Deny Smith Seat

POLL REVEALS 2 TO 1 VERDICT

Arizona Senator Introduces Resolution To Keep Smith From Taking Seat.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The battle to prevent Senator Designate Frank L. Smith (R) of Illinois from taking his seat in the senate was declared on here today just as soon as word was received of his appointment by the governor of Illinois.

Republican leaders received the news with undisguised disappointment, for they had hoped the battle could be averted until the 70th congress meets. To them Smith's coming at this time spells an extra session of the new congress after March 4. The Democrats merely smiled and began sharpening their knives.

Poll Against Smith.

Smith will not be seated—that much seem assured. A private poll by International News Service indicates that Smith will be denied his seat by a 2 to 1 vote whenever the senate can get to the point of voting. Republicans will join with Democrats in throwing Smith overboard.

The first step in the battle was

May Face Charge In Federal Court

(International News Service)

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 16.—Rebecca Bradley Rogers, 22- year old university graduate and alleged bandit, now may face charges in the federal court, it was admitted here today at the federal building.

Mrs. Rogers, stenographer in the office of Dan Moody, attorney general and governor-elect, already under $5,000 bond in the hold-up and robbery of the Farmer's National bank at Buda last Saturday and 2,000 bond in the burning of a house at Round Rock, Friday, may face federal charges as a result of disclosures that the girl is alleged to have sent a loaded pistol through the mails.

Sheriff George Allen of Hays county testified at the habeas corpus hearing here Monday Mrs. Rogers told him she had mailed an automatic pistol, with most of the $1,000 loot taken from the Buda bank, to herself at the University of Texas.

Mrs. Rogers gave Allen an order for the package, which, produced in court, contained the pistol.

Car Is Damaged, Driver Is Arrested

Dan Cosma, 925 Swansea avenue, reported last night that while his car was parked in front of the Moresky poolroom on Mahoning avenue, that a car driven west on Mahoning avenue, by John Lobaza, ran into and damaged his machine.

Investigation by the police resulted in the arrest of Lobaza on a charge of disorderly conduct. The case is being held under advisement, pending an investigation by the police. The indications are that Lobaza will be required to pay a fine as well as for the damage to the Cosma machine.

H. L. Kirkland of 1323 Barbour place, reported Wednesday that he was driving south on Croton avenue near the Pennsylvania railroad crossing, when the guard gates were let down suddenly. Mr. Kirkland applied his brakes and his machine started to skid. He tried to guide it against the bank. The machine, however, skidded into one of the guard gates, breaking it off.

One Lone Survivor Of Squirrel Family At Court House

One lone gray squirrel was frisking about the court house lawn this morning, said to be the lone survivor of the happy family that made its home in the trees last summer.

It is said that cats have been responsible for the deaths of the other squirrels. During the summer former County Commissioner Leslie built a house for the squirrels. It was placed in the forks of one of the trees and housed quite a large family until the cats got busy.

Fall And Doheny Are Acquitted Of Charges By Jury

VERDICT IS GIVEN DURING MORNING

Other "Oil Lease" Cases May Not Be Tried As Result Of Verdict.

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Albert Fall and E. L. Doheny today were acquitted of conspiracy to defraud the government in the leasing of naval oil reserves.

The verdict was rendered by a youthful jury that for more than three weeks sat in the District Supreme court and witnessed one of the keenest legal battles in American court annals.

The government thus lost the first of its criminal cases against those charged with being the central figures and conspirators in the "oil scandals" of the Harding administration.

Verdict at 10 A. M.

The verdict was brought in as soon as court opened at 10 o'clock this morning—twenty hours after the case was given into its hands at 2:48 p. m. yesterday.

As soon as justice A. A. Hoehling mounted the bench he was informed that the jury was ready to report. The defendants and their attorneys were already on hand. The court immediately instructed the jury to be brought in, and amid a deathlike stillness the words were pronounced that freed the ex-cabinet officer and the oil magnate.

May Nolle Prosse Other Cases

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The acquitted of Albert B. Fall and E. L. Doheny by a jury today in the first of the criminal trials growing out of the "oil scandals" of the Harding administration constitutes a severe blow to the government's whole

Smith Is Named To U. S. Senate

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Col. Frank L. Smith today was preparing to go to Washington to take up his duties in the senate, following his appointment by Governor Len Small to serve the unexpired term of the late Senator William B. McKinley. In accepting the appointment Col. Smith said he would leave for the national capital within a few days.

Although it was generally known that Governor Small favored giving the place to the senator-elect, his action was hastened by efforts of Republican leaders to dissuade Col. Smith from accepting.

By taking this action the governor literally throws down the gauntlet to those who oppose the appointment because of the insull campaign contributions. The batle against Mr. Smith in Washington is expected to break immediately upon his arrival there.

Administration leaders in the capital had hoped to stave it off until the opening of the new congress in March, when Senator Smith's elective term will start.

Ask Retrial In Detective Case

Counsel for Ernest Ester, Burns Detective who is being tried in Court Room number two, pulled a surprise move at 1:30 this afternoon when Attorney R. K. Aiken presented a petition to Judge Thomas Prather asking for a re-trial on the grounds that one of the jurors had expressed himself on what the verdict should be, before the case was completed.

The taking of testimony was finished at 11:30 this morning.

After reading the petition, Judge Prather announced that the petition would be allowed, and would be filed. In the event of a conviction of the detective in the case, it would figure as grounds for a new trial, it is said.

Weather Bureau Says Cold Wave Is Nearing End

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 16.—Sidetracked before it reached Western Pensylvania the cold wave originating in the middle west was felt only mildly in this region last night and today. The lowest temperature in this city was 9 degrees above zero at 5 a. m., outlying sections reported the mercury near zero.

The U. S. weather bureau said the temperature would rise during the day to about 20 above. The temperature will continue below freezing for two days according to the forecaster.

"Bear" Facts

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 16.—One of the prize hunting stories heard here this season was being told in Fayette county today about the experience of George H. Gates, of Smithfield, who with a party of hunters has just returned from Potter county.

Gates fired through a maple tree, five inches in diameter, to kill a small bear. The hunters at first were mystified to find two wounds in the bear's body, either of which might have caused its death. Upon close examination they discovered that in passing through the tree the bullet split in two, both parts taking effect.

I've attended lots of banquets, clubs and churches, mixed and stag, and I've been at feeds quite happy and at feeds that seemed to lag. But though I get out to banquets on an average twice a week, I have yet to be invited where somebody didn't speak. Every time some windy jasper tells of days and weeks gone by and most always his oration is a work both long and dry, and I listen with impatience till he says, I'm almost through, and the guests are getting weary, and most bored and tired and blue. Oh some day there'll be a banquet where no speakers will appear and at that one I will offer something like a heartfelt cheer. For these after dinner speakers have me prematurely gray, weather's down below the freez line, just eighteen its cold today.

Coast Guards Capture Rum

(International News Service)

NEW YORK Dec. 16.—Following a running battle in which a fleeing rum runner was riddled with machine gun bullets, the rum craft, loaded with liquor was captured today by a coast guard vessel off Princes Bay, Staten Island.

As the coast guard boat was towing the rum runner up the bay the skipper of the captured craft engaged the commander of the coast guarder in a fierce hand-to-hand fight in the pilot house.

During the struggle the 11 members of the crew of the rum boat escaped in a dory despite the presence of three coast guardsmen armed with service pistols.

An inquiry was ordered at the custom house to determine if the coast guardsmen were guilty of cowardice.

The rum runner was a converted submarine chaser, capable of great speed. During the runnig fight the skipper tried repeatedly to ram the government boat.

Considerable legal argument evolved about the admissibility of conversations between the witness and Rudner. Defense counsel claimed no conspiracy had been proven and that Rudner was not on trial.

John Van Allman and Lear Van Gunten, the next witness, identified McDermott as the man who roomed in Canton, under the name of "Charles Thompson" at the time of the Mellett murder. He left the day after the Mellett murder it was testified.

Van Gunten said McDermott showed him a telegram before leaving.

The state spent much time putting this telegram into evidence. Joseph Soos, Western Union messenger boy, told of delivering the message to "Charles Thompson" in Canton on July 16.

It read:

(Signed,) "R. L. STRENG."

The prosecution alleges this was a "code" message to McDermott sent the day after the murder.

"Where do you live?"

"Nowhere now."

"You're staying at the workhouse?'

"Yes."

She said she had known Pat four months, having met him in the Cleveland restaurant where she worked.

The auburn-haired Peggy told of a "joy ride" with McDermott in which they visited Akron and Massillon.

an announcement by Senator Ashurst (D) of Arizona that he will introduce the resolution barring Smith just as soon as he presents his credentials of appointment. The resolution will also call for a report from the Reed committee, whose investigation disclosed that Smith accepted a $125,000 campaign gift from Samuel Insull, utility magnate while chairman of the Illinois utilities commission.

Against Resolution.

The Ashurst resolution reads: "Resolved, that the qualifying oath be not administered to Hon. Frank L. Smith, the member designate, and that the special committee appointed by authority of senate resolution 196, 69th congress (the Reed committee), first section, be and hereby is, directed to report to the senate at the earliest convenient date such recommendations in the premises as may to said committee seem warranted."

In sponsoring the resolution, Ashurst said he objected to the qualifying oath being administered to Smith because the latter "in the primary campaign and primary election did, for the purpose of promoting and advancing his own candidacy, wilfully and knowingly permit and allow to be received by one, Allen F. Moore, who was chairman of the campaign committee and the campaign manager of him, the sum of $125,000 contributed by one Samuel Insull." Ashurst also called attention to $32,925 spent by Insul in behalf of literature for Smith's candidacy.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The senate moved quickly today to prevent Frank L. Smith from taking his seat in this session as successor to the late Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois.

The Reed campaign fund committee decided to make an immediate report on Smith's primary expenditures, and Senator Ashurst (D) of Arizona introduced a resolution to bar Smith from taking his oath of office.

Despite warnings from administration leaders that Smith would be ousted, Governor Small of Illinois, decided to give Smith the appointment anyway and let him take his chances.

THIRD SHOT NEEDED TO END DEER'S CHARGE

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 16.—John Tamar of East Providence returned from a huating trip in Rehoboth Woods with a 300-pound deer, a badly bruised right arm and a story of a battle with the animal when it was mortally wounded.

Tamar and a companion started out together. After they separated Tamar discovered tracks of the buck and followed them to a clearing, where he shot the animal in the left foreleg. It charged with head lowered. When a few paces away another shot brought it down, but its flailing hoofs struck Tamar in the arm and threw him against a tree. Another shot killed it.

Town Talk

Most officers on the police force are fond of some kind of a pet, generally a dog, but Clarence Samuels, whose reputation in the past has been for dogs now sports a real live monkey. The animal is known as "Lady" and was one of the monkeys which was at Cascade park all summer helping amuse the youngsters at that place. Officer Samuels says he is planning to keep "Lady" right along but his friends and fellow officers are marking time until the monkey has to get other winter quarters.

It seems the practice of different people in New Castle, as well as most every other city in the country, at this time to give thought to the use of the word "Xmas" instead of Christmas.

Dorothy Fell, a student at Ben Franklin Junior high school has given the origin of the word "Xmas," in an article which was in the Franklin school paper. Her article is as follows:

Nowadays we use "Xmas" as an abbreviation for Christmas. It originated from the Greek letter "X" standing for Christ. In olden times they celebrated a feast in the churches known as Christ-mass, but to shorten the word they substituted "X" for Christ and called the feast "Xmass."

Now, we have shortened it still more by dropping the last "s" and spell it "Xmas". It is considered bad form, however, to spell it in this way, and particular magazines or papers always spell it Christmas.

Near zero temperature prevailed in New Castle and Lawrence County this morning.

While thermometers registered a few degrees above zero in most cases, the biting arctic wind that swept across the city and county made it feel as though it were much colder.

It was easily the most noticeably cold night of the winter season thus far.

give assistance. Owing to the size of the holes being sunk only a few men could dig at a time, so they struggled in relays.

Little lamps, fastened to the caps of miners, lanterns carried by other workers and bonfires provided light. Automobile headlights glared in all directions.

As the dark figures of the workers silhouetted themselves in the curtain of darkness, the flashing of lights in the isolated section of the country presented a weird spectacle.

Work With Speed

The workers struggled with a vim. They shouted encouragement to each other. As one man would almost drop from exhaustion another man would pick away at the earth as though he himself was entombed.

For approximately nine hours the men and boys dug while women carried hot coffee and sandwiches but hope of rescuing the men was not abandoned.

J. A. Perdue telephoned the Sheriff's office informing Deputy William Reynolds of the cave-in. He asked that mining engineers be sent to the mine. This was about nine o'clock.

The News learned of the men's plight and within a short time Sheriff Reynolds, a deputy, and County Engineer Milholland hurried to the scene as did News reporters. Engineer Wilson also went to the mine which is about six miles from New Castle.

When they arrived the men were digging more eagerly than when they had commenced. One of the men ordered everybody to remain silent while he rapped on a rail.

Hear Faint Hammerings

The workers were heartened when they heard the faint hammering on the rail by the men inside the dark pit. Long pipes were driven into the ground.

"Keep up your nerve; we're coming!" was shouted repeatedly to the men, who later stated that while they did not hear the words they knew from signals that their plight was known. Signals were flashed constantly.

Two shafts were sunk, one near the highway and the other approximately 150 feet from the mouth of the entrance way. About midnight the workers broke through into the passageway and found Walker and Tanner.

Walker was hauled out first and Tanner was second. They were cold and nervous but excepting this, seemed none the worse for their experience. They were helped to a miners' shanty where a big fire thawed them out.

They said that they were trapped by the cave-in and were imprisoned in such a way that they were afraid to dig as it would have shut off the water and it would have risen rapidly.

This also would have shut off their fresh air supply which came through the tile drain excepting a little they might have received from an old entrance which had been almost entirely filled in recently.

"We were not greatly alarmed," said the men after they had been removed to the big fire in the miners' shanty at the mouth of the mine.

"We could hear the taps on the rail and hear the men digging to us. We knew they would get to us."

Some of those who aided in the rescue work were: Tom Forsythe, Harry Whiteman, J.A. Perdue, Louis Reno, Curtis Reno, J. S. Henderson, C. C. Houk, S. R. Houk, George Krabel, Sanford Krabel, John Dout, James Hogue, Mr. Hoon, C. Y. Henderson, Jess Dorsey, J. S. Henderson, William Van Eman, George Johnson, Russell King, Marian Reno, Joe Zuraski, Norman and David Walker, sons of one of the trapped miners; Frank Meyers, Norman man Lowhite, Orville Hutton, Walter Smith, Herman Jones, Luke Reno, Martin Nicholas, Ed. Lutton, Andrew Sneezics. There were numerous others who aided in the heroic work of rescuing the entombed men during the afternoon and night.

"Stockholders of the Safe Deposit & Trust company also met on Wednesday afternoon and agreed to the change of name of the institution to the Union Trust Company of New Castle and also to the increase of capital of the bank from $150,000 to $1,350,000.

"The new trust company will be closely allied with the consolidated national banks, and starts off not only with a capital of $1,350,000 but also a surplus and undivided profits of an equal amount. With its resources largely augmented, the trust company will no doubt do a largely increased business, as it will be the strongest institution of its kind in this vicinity.

"It will be especially well fitted and equipped to act in a fiduciary capacity, such as executor and trustee under wills, as guardian and as trustee for other purposes. It will also continue to do a general banking business, including commercial and savings accounts and Christmas club funds."

far-flung legal campaign to recover the naval oil reserves and to punish those responsible for their leasing.

The ex-cabinet officer and his millionaire friend have been adjudged not guilty of conspiracy to defraud the government. Therefore, in the opinion of legal experts, the entire criminal case of the government against the "two old prospectors" collapses.

There remains against them another indictment charging bribery, but it is doubtful if this indictment will ever be pressed in view of today's jury decision, which inferentially characterized the $100,000 loan made by Doheny to Fall as "an innocent transaction." It is probable that government counsel will now nolle prosse this indictment.

He is survived by four sons, E. W., J. A. and C. F. Allen all of West Middlesex and W. B. Allen of Youngstown, O., and two brothers, George of Fullman, Wash., and John C. Allen and one sister Jennie E. Sample of New Castle.

Mr. Allen was a member of the Presbyterian church at West Middlesex.

Funeral services will take place Friday December 17 at 2 p. m. from the home of his son E. W. Allen of West Middlesex in charge of Rev. Holmes. Burial will be made in Haywood cemetery.

J. Ross Baldwin.

J. Ross Baldwin, aged 54 years, one of the best known and highly esteemed men of Shenango township, died Wednesday night about midnight after a brief illness.

Mr. Baldwin's death was due to pneumonia which he contracted one week ago. He was born in Shenango township August 23, 1872, a son of the late Lafayette and Rebecca Dinsmore Baldwin and had resided in that community all his life time.

He was a faithful and active member of Center U. P. church and had always taken a deep interest in religious and civic affairs.

Eighteen years ago he was united in marriage to Amy Grandy who survives him with one sister Mrs. Joseph Van Gorder of Wayne township.

Funeral services will take place Saturday December 18 at 2 p. m. from Center United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Graceland cemetery.

Jasper Hartman.

Jasper Hartman aged 39 years, of Bessemer, died Wednesday afternoon as the result of an operation. He leaves his wife and three daughters, one sister, and three brothers.

Funeral services will take place Saturday, December 18, at 3 p. m. from St. Anthony's church. Intermen in St. Anthony's cemetery.

William McKissick.

William H. McKissick, age 80, died this morning at the home of his daughter Mrs. Henry J. Sines, 1509 East Washington street. He is one of the oldest residents of this city, and is a member of the Third U. P. church.

He is survived by the following children, Mrs. Henry J. Sines, William McKissick, Henry McKissick, Mrs. Peter Sines, Mrs. Roy Zeigler, and Miss Nettie McKissick all of this city.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sines home 1509 East Washington street. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

MAYOR OUSTER ORDER UPHELD

Court Of Appeals Upholds Ouster Order Against Steubenville Mayor

(International News Service)

STEUBENVILLE, O., Dec. 16.—The ousting of Mayor John S. H. Patton, of Steubenville, by action of the Ohio common pleas court was upheld today by the Court of Appeals.

The Court of Appeals, in affirming the decision of the lower court, held that there was sufficient cause for removal because of evidence of misconduct in office.

The case was the first application of the state ouster law of 1923, under which 400 Steubenville citizens petitioned for Patton's removal, which was effected by the lower court's order.

With today's decision as precedent, it was learned here that citizens of Wellsville, O., began circulation of a petition asking the removal of Mayor H. L. Sogo.

School Activities At West Pittsburg

(Special To The News)

WEST PITTSBURG, Dec. 16.—Pupils are maintaining an excellent record in the ceral project undertaken in the health classes.

Hot cereals are to be eaten for breakfast at least three mornings each week. Rooms attaining a certain sandard for several weeks will receive a reward.

A spelling contest between fifth and sixth grades resulted in a tie score. A similar contest in health was won by the sixth grade.

The geography classes have completed neatly colored maps of the countries they are studying. These present a pleasing display posted on the walls of the class rooms.

School was dismissed last Friday in order to allow the children to see Santa in New Castle. Two-thirds of the entire school signified a desire to go. It is notable that a very small number of these had planned the trip before a vacation was announced showing that they placed their good attendance record first.

John C. Syling visited the school during the past week. He is of the opinion that the teachers are putting forth their best efforts and are securing good results in their work.

A Safety First talk was given on Thursday by George Rose. Pupils were greatly interested in hearing some things they had not known before.

Leland Stanford university, University of Alabama and Lafayette college stand out as the only prominent teams to win all of their football games this year, and after Stanford and Alabama clash on New Year's day there probably will be only two teams able to claim victories in all their games.

OF STUFF THAT MAKES HEROES

WHILE most of New Castle was hugging the fireside or fast asleep last night there was a heroic service being rendered by a small part of the Lawrence county citizenry that is worth more than passing notice.

Out in the vicinity of Gardner or Moravia stop at the Reno coal mine, twenty or thirty members of the community were working with all the strength they possessed to dig a hole twenty feet or more into the earth, to reach two men who had been entombed in a small coal mine.

Despite the terrific cold winds that swept the hillside, and the difficulties under which they worked, taking their turns in relays, these volunteers labored with a heroism that put down the hole in record time, and resulted in reaching the imprisoned men before they had been seriously impaired by their underground entombment of twelve hours.

The silent, persistent effort of these workers in that unusual scene on the Lawrence county hillside last night, was a manifestation of the stuff that heroes are made of.

SOUTH FEELS TARIFF NEED

THE protective tariff—once the line of demarcation between Northern Republican and Southern Democrat—has divided the earstwhile Solid South against itself. It ceased to be a national politicial issue a decade ago, only to loom now as the one issue that can split the Solid South.

Senator George, of Georgia, told the Southern Society that the day of free trade has passed in the South. Southern industrialists, irrespective of political affiliation, agree with him. The only talk of reviving the old warfare on protective tariff duties issues from a few Southern representatives in congress like Mr. Hull, of Tennessee, and Mr. Oldfield, of Arkansas, and the small group of agriculturists they represent who have not yet found a need for tariff protection to give them an advantage over foreign competition.

Senator George is firmly convinced that the new industrialism in the South needs reasonable protection against outside competition and that without this protection it cannot utilize its vast resources and diversify its activities. It must have sounded like high treason to the irreconcilable free-traders of the Old South when Mr. George declared that "to states in this transition period a protective tariff is even more necessary than to states which have already become highly industrialized."

As a national issue the old tariff question is dead because the economic interests of the several sections are no longer distinct and antagonistic. As an issue in the South it is just in its incipiency because there are two distinct and antagonistic economic interests in the South of today. The Industrial South wants protection so it can sell its products at a profit. The Agricultural South wants free trade so it can buy the things it uses for less money.

SCHOOL TO PREPARE GIRLS FOR MARRIAGE

THAT New York millionaire who has donated his fine estate in Bronxville and given a million and a quarter for the establishment of a woman's college says that more than anything else he wants it to be an institution to prepare girls for marriage. He believes that matrimony is the true career for a woman, and it is significant that he does not believe in votes for the gentler sex. The institution, to be known as the Sarah Lawrence College, in honor of the wife of the donor, is to be a junior college, offering a two year's course, the first of its kind in New York State.

It will be interesting to watch the progress of the institution and to see how near it comes to carrying out the ideals of its founder. Mr. Lawrence does not think that women and girls need the same kind of an education as a man, but it is not clear where the distinction is to be drawn. Many existing schools and colleges have courses in domestic science. Students in the new college "will be encouraged to have hobbies," but the girls of 1926 are different from those of 1876, and the officials of the new seat of learning might as well make up their minds that the pupils of today will not be content to confine those hobbies to cooking, sewing and the art of making contented husbands.

A game census just taken by the government is expected to bear out the axiom that you can't beat the other fellow's.

Now that a scientist declares that earthworms can sing, the idea is to locate some fish that would care for grand opera.

What is the proper position of the feet when walking? is a question asked. It is entirely proper to have at least one foot on the ground.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A CURED GOLFER.

Time was I played in rain or snow,
The mercury at two below
And thought it pleasure, too;
So much I loved the ancient game
I'd venture out with eyes aflame
My daily round to do.
Let blizzards blow or thunders roll
I'd struggle towards the eighteenth hole.

In flannel shirt and leather coat,
A woolen muffler round my throat
And rubber boots I'd play,
And frozen through, or dripping wet
I'd trudge afound the course and get
A certain thrill that way.
I laughed at rain or sleet or snow,
But that was several years ago.

Out on the course I still behold
Stray golfers shivering with cold
Beneath a wintry sky,
And standing at my window pane
I watch the pelting sleet and rain
As those brave souls go by.
Then to myself I chuckle low,
"I gave that up long years ago!"

Let youthful novices go out
With beating hearts and courage stout
To battle wind and rain,
I'll play my golf 'neath skies ablaze,
On warm and gentle summer days.
But I'm no weather vane,
No pleasure from the game I get
When frozen stiff or dripping wet.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:34; sun rises tomorrow 7:19.

There is talk in Pittsburgh of making the owners of taxicabs pay a license for taking up the srects as parking places. We cannot see anything wrong in putting that tax on Putting a tax on them for the way the most of them go would also be a good thing—and that't don't mean just Pittsburgh either.

After she is married the average New Castle woman realizes how the poor homely girl used to feel when she din't get any kisses.

Two hunters from this city Jess Moore and Mont Metzler went to Potter county some days ago and came home each with a fine deer. The Hints and Dints man had a slab of one of the deer and it sure was fine inwardly. We are glad the two liberal gentlemen had such good luck and we certainly appreciated it when they remembered us. We hadn't had a hand out for some time.

Gentlemen:—
Most employers try to hire honest employes. However, some times some get on the payroll who run accounts with merchants and often never pay. The merchait then goes to the employer and tries to get the employer to collect the account for him to make the employer compel the employe to pay the account. The really right thing for a merchant to do when approached for credit is to ask the employer if the one applying is worthy of it. This will save the merchant a lot of money and the employer a lot of embarrassment. Know your people before you extend credit to then and the employer often is in good position to tell. Don't ask an employer to collect from his employes wor you.—From The News, November 14, 1926.

Another good way to find out whether the employe is entitled to credit would be for the merchant to belong to the New Castle Credit Exchange where the paying habits of nearly every one in New Castle are on file.

By doing this the merchant would not only have the reference of the employer, but a history of the paying habits of the employe with all the other merchants.

Very truly yours,
NEW CASTLE CREDIT EXCHANGE.

Just because they thought Queen Marie was going to visit Pittsburgh an expense of $1,788 was incurred in just making a bit of start to get ready for her. It's going to be hard to pay that bill. After this they will wait until the queens get within the city limits before they go spending their money there.

A high up German now says that there never would have been a world war if the statesmen of Europe had been given an opportunity to meet frequently and talk things over. Hereafter when some of the European nations feel that they cannot do without war we think a conference should be called to get their minds off the fight.

A great prison expert died in Chicago, his wife says from a broken heart on account of unjust criticism. It seems to us that a man who is an expert on prisons would not feel a little thing like a little hammer throwing. He was too tender hearted to be a prison expert. Most any crook will agree to that.

Prohibition officers seem to be making a desperate attempt to stop all Christmas likker from getting to the numerous consumers in this country just now. The holidays without a bit of schapps will be a hollow mockery to many, but we do not think any prohibition officer will die from a broken heart from the criticism that will be poked at them.

Most every housewife is trying to reduce her weight, but what Friend Husband would like to see her reduce is the household expenses. Even if the wife does quit eating the expenses do not get less.

Well, how about putting a Christmas tree in the hole in the sidewalk, put there to hold a flag. We know it would not be good policy to put presents on the tree right out in daylight or night time either for that matter.

We read a story of where a man and his wife were having a fight and the husband was about to be hurled out the back door when he grasped a pan of boiling water on his way out and flung it at his dear wife, scalding her so badly that she will not have a very good Christmas. The question now is was the husband justified in defending his life.

Some years ago the term "Raisin Jack" was heard very often. We never hear or see it printed any more. Have they quit making raisin jack?

It is not hard to tell how some cases will go in court after one reads the names of the jurors. It will be either the way some of them think or it will be a disagreement. Knowing men and their characteristics makes it easy for some to tell what they will do even before any evidence is taken. Selecting a jury is the most important feature of a trial. And selecting the lawyer also counts.

We see an announcement to the effect that the Carnegie Steel company is going to put on their big Christmas treat this year as usual. This affair is a great event in the lives of the children of this city and is greatly appreciated by them. Nothing could be better.

A young lady went into a local store and asked the young man clerk to show her a pair of garters. He said: "A pair about like you have on Miss?"

A local divine was endeavoring to console a young woman who had recently become a widow's weeds widow. You have my heartfelt sympathy" he said. "but do not despair. Remember there is a great comforter for you." "What's his adress?" was the quiet reply.

An East Side woman told her husmand that she wished there was some way she could break him of talking in his sleep. She declared that he kept her awake half the night. "Well, honey" he answered, complacently, "I don't get much chance to talk in the day time, you know." She dropped the subject.

While Aimee McPherson took a holiday her congregation remained loyal and patiently on the job. Now they are deserting her. But that's the way with fickle people.

I am not inclined to laugh at other people's misfortunes. I try not to be impolite, and I consider myself pretty well bred. But I couldn't help chuckling yesterday evening when the readymade necktie of a stranger sitting next to me at a restaurant fell off into his soup. Nor could you, either.

"If you want to know whether you are destined to be a success or a failure in life, you can easily find out. The test is simple and it is infallible. Are you able to save money? If not, drop out. You will lose. You may think not, but you will lose, as sure as you live. The seed of success is not in you."—James J. Hill.

Dear Sir: You have a lot to learn about mosquitoes. Recently you tried to make us believe that a mosquito sings at its work, like cheerful human beings. The truth is that when a mosquito gets right down to business he quits singing. His serenading is done in his leisure hours. I might even love a mosquito, if all he did was sing. Hoping that this will have served to enlighten you on a very important matter and that you will not show your ignorance in the future, I remain. L. C. A.

City prisoners in Cleveland, Ohio, jails get no food for the first 24 hours, unless they pay for it themselves. The right kind of publicity on an idea like this ought to make Cleveland jails very unpopular and might have a little effect on the crime wave.

Charlie Chaplin is almost a Solomon in his wisdom. Since his wife left him he makes the statement that he is willing to settle by splitting the children 50-50. Fortunately there is an even number of the kiddies to be thus divided.

The custom of many European countries is to pardon a bunch of convicts every time a member of the royal family is married or a baby comes or other such occasion. Over here where there is no royalty, the governors don't wait for any special occasions—just do the pardoning any old time.

The American war debt has been reduced to a small matter of only 19 billion plus. Pretty soon they will have us thinking it was a huge financial success.

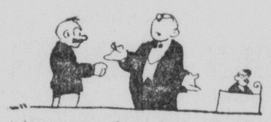
In Russia they have conducted experiments in continuing life in the body without a heart and lungs. They used an electric motor and were very successful. Some people will think that Russia has proven long ago that it could continue life without a heart.



There are but few Americans who have the true look of greatness, and most of them are head waiters.

From now on it is the sweet buy and buy until Christmas. Better get in the swim and buy and buy and buy.

This is a good season of the year to keep a weather eye open for pickpockets and purse snatchers. With the pockets filled with Christmas money or the purses bulging out with bills there is a chance for a good haul. Better be careful and you won't be sorry!

It is the hope of everyone that Vice-President Dawes will live up to his Nobel Peace Prize.

The debate as to whether the country is prosperous amounts to little. The fellow who has it knows it and the man who doesn't have it knows it too and it has always been that way.

No New Ford.
A New McNary Bill.
Killed Their Bootlegger.
We Are Religious.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The Ford company sends to agents the statement, published some days ago in this column, that Ford is "not " going to put out new models of new cars of any kind, six, eight or any other number of cylinders. That should be generally known to prevent disturbance of one of the greatest and most valuable industries.

The embattled western farm bloc and southern cotton planters fired their first gun for relief legislation yesterday. The McNary-Haugen bill, thrown out a year ago, is back, revised by Mr. McNary, head of the agricultural committee.

It's not a "price-fixing plan" you are assured, just a suggestion that the government make loans to help cotton, wheat, corn, hogs and rice.

Gentlemen who think it all right for the government to relieve railroads with higher rates sincerely believe it is socialism to try to help farmers "artificially."

However, one thing worse than farm socialism would be defeat for the Republican party in 1928. The farmer may have something done for him.

Louis Wallinger, father of five, supported them nicely. He sold several bottles of whisky to a taxi load of conviviality. The load returned for more at 3 in the morning. Wallinger said, "You are too drunk," and they killed him, one bullet in his head, one in his chest.

If customers could kill all the bootleggers and bootleggers poisoned all the customers, prohibition would be a problem solved, but nothing works 100 per cent.

We are more religious than the people of England. There such questions as "Do you believe in God—in immortality—in hell—heaven—the divine birth of Christ" etc., bring all sorts of strange answers.

Here we usually answer "yes" to such questions.

Good times have something to do with it. Many are too prosperous and busy to devote much time to thinking or questions.

Pay little attention to stories about Mrs. Charlie Chaplin or somebody else applying to Rome for annulment of marriage. No such application can be made in Rome. Local diocesan courts hear and consider evidence as to marriage annulments. Their findings are not valid until passed upon by the Rota in Rome. The Rota decides for or against the decision of a lower court. No annulment cases are taken direct to Rome.

Like other European countries, Rumania, Transylvania, Hungary, have troubles, and Ferdinand, Rumania's king, is close to his death, which will leave everything in a mess.

It is suggested to combine the three countries in one country, but it is not easy to make a healthy man by combining three men with consumption, anemia and the grippe. That is what Europe has been trying to do.

The British take murder seriously. Young Arthur Hallo and a young woman made a suicide pact. He didn't buy the poison; she got the poison, swallowed her share, died, and he will be hanged for starting something that caused death.

Should millions of women read of the death of Sir Oliver Lodge, Marconi, Millikan and a dozen other great scientists, the majority would say, "That's too bad," and be not much interested.

Every one of millions will be interested to hear that Jean Phillipe Worth, the famous dresmaker, has gone to a land where there is no sewing.

His house dressed queen and empresses of state and finance, also young ladies with whom their sons ran around in Paris. His word meant more in real authority to the world's women than all the decisions of a thousand high judges.

Attorney General Shaffer of North Dakota wants the legislature to restore the death penalty for murder. He says a burglar will shoot more recklessly if he knows the worst penalty is life imprisonment. In fact, those that practice robbery with violence deliberately select states where there is no gallows or electric chair.

Perhaps exceptions must be made in these days of promiscuous shooting, but it has been proved a thousand ways that, under normal conditions, murder increases when the government sets an example in killing.

THE THIRTEENTH ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITTANICA

The thirteenth edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica is being prepared.

Few people have an idea of the immense research and labor that this involves.

Professor Einstein will discuss time and space, Professor Aston, atomic energy, Sir Ernest Rutherford the constitution of matter, and Mme. Curie radium.

There is an article on household appliances and pictures of the electrical devices for solving the servant problem.

Mr. Reith of the British Broadcasting Company writes on broadcasting and Marconi on wireless.

An idea of the way in which chemists are improving on nature will be found in the account of the production of artificial silk.

Mr. J. L. Garvin edits that section which deals with contemporary history and politics. He and Bernard Shaw discuss socialism and capitalism.

Presidents, prime ministers and government officials of half the countries of the world will contribute. These include Caillaux, Streseman, Colonel Bethlen, President Masaryk, Colonel House, Trotzsky, and about five members of President Coolidge's cabinet.

Turning to the lighter sides of life, jazz, the Charleston, crossword puzzles and mah-jongg will be treated.

Altogether it will furnish a compendium of information and authoritative facts gathered from all parts of the world and will be a remarkable publication.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

"THEM GOOD OLD DAYS."

In these days when criminal jurisprudence in the United States seems to have almost broken down, when unconscionable long trials are permitted while the guilty and the near guilty escape with light punishment or with no punishment at all, when bandits shoot up the public highways at will, and the laws passed by our National and State Legislatures are openly and wantonly flaunted, it might be interesting to know that there was one time in the history of the American people when crime was punished in a manner to fit the crime. I have an incident before me. To be sure, it was an event which happened before the United States of America became a Nation, but it was not so very long before 1776. The event happened at a Superiour Court of Judicature, Court of Assize, and General Gaol Delivery, begun and held at Providence, "in the English Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations in New England in America, on the third Tuesday of March, One Thousand Seven Hundred and Forty Nine, and in the twenty-third year of the reign of his most Sacred Majesty, George the Second, by the Grace of God, King of Great Britain, etc."

"Daniel Phillips of Smithfield in the County of Providence was indicted at this Court for that, notwithstanding the Law of the Colony made and provided for preventing the Counterfeiting of the Bills of Public Credit emitted or that shall be emitted by any of the Governments in New England and to prevent defacing the same, etc., he the said Daniel Phillips on the fifteenth day of August A. D., 1747, did with Force and Arms utter and pass two false and counterfeit Bills of the denomination and imitation of the true thirty shillings Bills of the Providence of Massachusetts Bay New Tenor to the Wife of Daniel Fones of North Kingston Gentleman, and also on the first day of September A. D. 1747, did with Force and Arms utter and pass one other Counterfeit bill of the Denomination and Imitation of true Thirty Shilling Bills of said Providence New Tenor as aforesaid to Solomon Drown of said Providence, Esqr. And said Daniel Phillips well knowing the three said Bills at the Time when uttered and passed aforesaid to be false and counterfeit, the said Act or law being then in full force which Doings of the said Daniel Phillips is against his Majesty's Peace His Crown and Dignity and against the Force and Virtue of said Law of Said Colony preferred to the Grand Jury. And thereupon the said Daniel Phillips being arraigned, Pleaded not guilty and put himself on Tryal by God and the County. Whereupon a Jury was impanneled and sworn, who upon their Oaths said the said Daniel Phillips is Guilty.

Wherfore the sentence and Judgement of this Court is that you the said Daniel Phillips on the twenty ninth instant between the Hours of six and eight of the clock in the Afternoon be pilloried and have both your Ears cropt, and be branded with the Letter R on each Cheek, and be imprisoned in his Majesty's Gaol in the County of Providence for the space of Ten Days and that you shall pay double damages to all persons defrauded and cheated by the aforesaid False Bills by you uttered together with all costs of Prosecution. The which Damages shall be computed, settled and adjudged according to the Law of the Colony aforesaid upon which you have been indicted. And further the Sentence and Judgment of this Court is that you the said Daniel Phillips do forfeit the remaining Part of your Estate both real and Personal to and for the use of the Colony to be disposed of as is by the law aforesaid appointed; and in case you the said Danl. Phillips have not sufficient Estate to make good the Damages, Costs of Prosecution and Imprisonment, that then you the said Daniel Phillips shall be by the Sheriff of the County set to Work or Sold out of the Colony for a Space of Time not exceeding Seven years, and remain in custody until this Sentence be performed."

A little of this sort of medicine might accomplish two things, induce the Legislators to repeal a lot of obnoxious laws, and put the Fear of God in the hearts of the real criminals.

POEMS HOVE

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"Rabbi Ben Ezra," by Robert Browning.

It is a pity to quote only fragments from this superb poem. Its high philosophy has become a part of our language; its fearless faith is a light on a dark sea; its magnificent sweep and swing and surge are in perfect keeping with the profound message the poet conveys. I have always considered it one of the greatest of Browning's great poems. I hope that those who do not know it all, will seek the entire text in the nearest library, having sampled this much of it.

Grow old along with me!
The best is yet to be,
The last of life, for which the first was made:
Our times are in His hand
Who saith, "A whole I planned,
Youth shows but half; trust God; see all, nor be afraid!"

Then, welcome each rebuff
That turns earth's smoothness rough,
Be our joys three-parts pain!
Strive, and hold cheap the strain;
Learn, nor account the pang; dare, never grudge the throe!

For thence,—a paradox
Which comforts while it mocks,
Shall life succeed in that it seems to fail:
What I aspired to be,
And was not, comforts me:
A brute I might have been, but would not sink i' the scale.

Fool! All that is, at all,
Lasts ever, past recall;
Earth changes, but thy soul and God stand sure:
What entered into thee,
That was, is, and shall be:
Time's wheel runs back or stops; potter and clay endure.

Look not thou down, but up!
To uses of a cup,
The new wine's foaming flow,
The Master's lips aglow!

So, take and use thy work!
Amend what flaws may lurk,
What strain o' the stuff, what warpings past the aim!
My times be in Thy hand!
Perfect the cups as planned!
Let age approve of youth, and death complete the same!

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to News Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Prospects of a special session of congress next spring are promising—or threatening, from the standpoint of President Coolidge and the regular Republicans generally.

If there's a special session it will be a special session, not of the present congress, but of the new one—the 70th.

This latter body is likely to be a perfect pest to the administration, the regular Republicans having lost control of the senate to the insurgents and Democrats, between them, provided they pull together.

The regulars want to stave the nuisance off as long as possible—until December, 1927. The opposition wants to start trouble early in the spring and keep it up all summer.

* * *

There's just one thing the administration can't do without. Everything else can go by the board at the cost of inconvenience and annoyance, perhaps, but not to the tune of actual disaster.

The vitally essential thing is:

If the appropriation bills pass this winter the regulars can give the extra session folk the ha, ha. Otherwise the president will have to call one, no matter how much he hates it.

* * *

The fight on the right of William S. Vare of Pennsylvania and Frank L. Smith of Illinois to senate seats when the 70th congress meets is what hints at a tie-up of all other business until that row's settled.

Other cases are before the senate campaign expenses committee, but those are the two prize controversies.

The group which wants to speed proceedings up says:

"Vare and Smith were elected to the 70th congress. Their fate is none of this senate's business."

The group which prefers delay answers:

"They'll go on the payroll as soon as the 69th congress adjourns unless this senate prevents it. We mean to do it."

* * *

It's a new point and a complicated one, which adapts it admirably to time killing tactics.

On paper, against Vare and Smith there ought to be 42 Democratic votes, the vote of Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite, and the votes of Senators Frazier, LaFollette, Norris and Nye, insurgent Republicans. Total 47.

On paper, for Vare and Smith there ought to be 48 regular Republicans—counting the late Senator McKinley's seat as vacant—or a skimpy majority.

The Democrats may not hold quite their solid vote, however. Senator Blease, for instance, is doubtful, on the state rights ground that he doesn't believe in butting into Pennsylvania's and Illinois' elections. Senator LaFollette, too, is ill and may not be here this session. And the Republicans, besides the out-and-out insurgents, are uncertain of several near-independents, like Senators Borah, Couzens, Howell and Johnson.

* * *

But that doesn't matter so much. However, the present senate may decide, the next one is sure to be appealed to, by one side or the other, to reverse this winter's verdict.

The main question is:

Will the Vare-Smith wrangle take long enough to force an extra session?

The betting is about 50-50.

Many former neighbors of Joseph Richeal are present, some of them as witnesses and many of them interested, because of their knowledge of the facts leading up to the case.

Afternoon Session.

At the opening of the afternoon session W. Leslie Wilson, civil engineer, was called to the stand. He was cross examined by Attorney Clyde Gibson as to the slope of the bank at the side of the Richeal lane. The testimony had to do with the distances, from point to point and the location of various buildings on the property.

David Richeal, son of the deceased man, was called. He testified that on the evening of September 14 he was milking and after that let the cows out to pasture. He then went to hunt his father and found him about 7:30 or 8 o'clock, Eastern Standard time, coming from the wagon shed. The boy, his brother, William, and the father went out to the lane where a car was standing.

The car was parked on the right side of the lane and as they approached they saw a man come out of the corn field and get into the car.

The three went up to the car and Joseph Richeal asked if the visitors did not know they were on private property. The reply was that they thought the lane was the road leading to Lakewood.

Witness said that some conversation ensued and the man later identified as Johnson got out of the car and knocked William Richeal down. Then he attacked Joseph Richeal, according to the witness. The two men scuffled and then parted. Richeal and his two sons walked away and after walking some distance up the lane, the elder Richeal fell over. The boy caught his father and a little later some neighbors come to their assistance.

Cross examined by Gibson the boy grew uncertain about facts to which he had testified among them the fact that Johnson had pushed William Richeal down. He finally admitted that he did not see Johnson do it. He also said that he did not know there was a window broken in the Johnson automobile, although he had testified at a previous hearing that he was back of his father when the glass was broken.

The boy remained cool under the grilling of Gibson and when pressed would say, "I don't remember".

He was referred to notes of his testimony at the two previous hearings and finally said that if he had made the answers quoted, they were true.

Gibson charged the boy with having thrown a stone through the window of the automobile but he denied it. He admitted that his brother had picked up a stone in the lane.

Dr. W. D. Cleland, who was called to the Richeal home after the alleged crime, was called.

Chambers conducted the examination which was objected to by Gibson, on the grounds that he was not participate actively in the case.

"The court appointed me", said Chambers.

"Not to participate actively" was the reply.

Objection overruled and Chambers continued. Dr. Cleland testified that he had been called on September 14 but found Richeal dead. The said death was caused by contusions on the side of the head. A post mortem disclosed a blood clot on the brain caused by the contusion.

Wm. Carrick a farmer of the East Brook Station road, was called. His farm adjourns the Richeal farm, the lane being kept up by the two families.

On the night of the alleged crime Carrick was on the farm of Guy Lockhart. Sometime after 8 o'clock he started back home but was met by one of the Richeal boys. David Richeal was holding his father in a reclining posture. Soon after, Guy Lockhart, Kenneth Lockhart and Mr. Bartsch came and the men carried Richeal into his home. Carrick said he observed a mark on Richeal's right temple.

Carrick was cross examined by Ex-Judge Emery. There was nothing new developed in the cross examination. Carrick pointed out on the map the location of his farm, where Richeal's body was found in the lane and the other points of interest in this trial.

Guy Lockhart, a farmer, who resides near the Richeal farm, was called. Examined by Chambers.

Q. How long have you lived in Hickory Township?

A. Since 1876.

Q. How did you come to go to the Richeal farm on September 14, 1926?

A. I was called there and J. W. Bartsch and myself went over.

He indicated on the plan the position of his farm and where Richeal was found, near the forks of the road. He said that Wm. Richeal had the number of the machine in which the visitors in the lane were riding and that he took the paper and came to the sheriff's office.

Cross examined by Emery.

Q. When you came up the road that night you saw David and Joseph Richeal, didn't you?

A. Yes, just at the fork of the road.

Kenneth Lockhart, son of the previous witness, was called and testified that he had gone to the Richeal farm on the night of September 14. His testimony was similar to that of his father.

Sheriff H. M. Reynolds was the next witness. He testified that he had been at the Richeal farm on the night of September 14. Richeal was dead when the sheriff arrived. He observed bruises on the side of Richeal's head both on that night and the next day at the undertaking parlors. The sheriff located the owner of the car which had been in the lane at about ten o'clock. He questioned the occupants of the car and Gilbert Blackford denied having been in the lane. The sheriff arrested the occupants of the car—Gilbert Blackford, Minnie Clements and Clifford Johnson.

At 4:30 court adjourned.

Thursday Morning

Sheriff Reynolds was called to the stand after the hearing of the objection on private counsel. His recalling was objected to by the defense and overruled.

Q. Did you talk to Johnson after his arrest?

A. Yes, he said he had been out in the East Brook lane the night of the crime.

Gibson—The what? Ask to have that stricken from record. Granted.

"He said he was out in the lane and that they were ready to leave when some one threw a stone thru the car window. This made Johnson angry and he got out and shoved a boy out of the way and then got back in the car and got ready to leave."

Cross examined by Gibson.

Q. You learned of this trouble promptly?

A. Yes.

Q. Had them in custody at 10:30 Daylight Saving time?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you tell them Richael was dead on the way up to jail?

A. No.

Q. Didn't you tell them that you had had to arrest Richael for shooting up a car and now there was another complaint?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you get Johnson's statement before you told him Richael was dead?

A. Yes.

Q. You wrote his statement down.

A. I didn't.

Q. But there was a statement written down?

A. Yes.

Counsel accused the sheriff of hedging in his answers and a short tilt between the two ensued.

The statement was produced and the sheriff was questioned as to the answers written in it.

Q. Didn't you tell Johnson that Blackford had said that Johnson had hit the old man?

A. I wouldn't say I did.

Q. Would you say you didn't?

Witness didn't answer clearly and the court instructed him so to do.

He said he wouldn't say he didn't. The statement of Johnson was then read.

Dr. L. W. Wilson was called and testified to the autopsy held on the body of Joseph Richael. He said there were marks on the right side of the head. A blood clot was found inside the skull.

Chief Deputy Sheriff William Reynolds was called and corroborated the story of Sheriff Reynolds in the arrest of Johnson. He testified that he had found an automobile crank in the lane leading to the Richael farm.

William Richael, a son of the deceased, was called. His story was similar to that of his brother of yesterday. How the father and two sons went out to where the car was parked in the lane. How the argument ensued over whether the lane was private property or not.

Richael claimed that Johnson knocked him down and then struck at his dad. He said that when Johnson got out of the car he had a weapon of some kind in his hand.

Cross-Examined by Gibson

Q. Your father was opposed to automobiles, wasn't he?

Objected to and sustained.

Gibson endeavored to get in some testimony relative to Joseph Richael's shooting up of automobiles previously. Several objections were interposed and sustained.

Chambers then asked that Gibson be forced to dictate his offer to the stenographer out of the jury's hearing. Another argument ensued and finally the offer was dictated.

It was that the defense intended to attack the credulity of the witness by showing that the reason he went out to the automobile to seek his father was that he knew his father's dislike of automobiles and that the deceased man had shot up other automobiles previously.

Offer refused by the court.

Gibson then examined the witness about the conversation at the car between Joseph Richael and the occupants of the car.

He admitted that the elder Richael had used profanity and had called Johnson some names.

He admitted to having picked up a stone on his way to the auto for the purpose of defending himself. He said that he was afraid Johnson might hit him.

Court adjourned for noon recess.

Wedding Law Plan Would Foil Elopers

READING, Dec. 16.—According to Manfred Lilliefors, Jr., executive secretary of the Reading Social Welfare league, two changes in the Pennsylvania marriage laws will be urged by the Public Charities Association of the state at the next session of the legislature.

One change would limit marriage to persons 16 years old or over, except under special conditions which must be presented to a county judge before a license is issued, and another would provide a five-day waiting period between the date of issuance of the license and marriage.

Fee System Plan Ends For Sheriff In Mercer County

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 16.—Sheriff W. A. Bone is the last Mercer county offical in office to serve under the fee system of administration of his office. By act of legislature of 1925 counties of the sixth class which includes Mercer, the office of the high sheriff is put on a salary basis of $4,000 with the county paying the salaries of deputies and cost of maintenance.

The office is the last in Mercer county to go on the salary basis, the register and recorder, clerk of courts, prothonotary and county treasurer offices going on this basis in 1924 when the present group of officials were sworn in.

The sheriff nominated and elected in 1927 in this county becomes a salaried officer when he takes the oath of office on the first Monday of January, 1928. Reading of the act is conclusive of many entanglements in its wording that are certain to be matters of settlement between the salary board of the county and the sheriff.

The act provides for deputies but is not explicit as to who shall hire them, sheriff or board. It provides for expenses but is not definite as to what extent they shall be limited. It states nothing as to provision of a residence for the official and his wardens.

Under the fee system the county provided a residence in the county jail house for these officials. In counties where the act is operative it is reported that disputes as to the text of the law have arisen between board and sheriff on questions such as have been noted.

The sheriff must be provided with an automobile as well as his deputies. This under the act would be another item of expense for the county who is the beneficiary of the reciepts of the office.

Seventh Ward News

Christmas Rush At Post Office Late

People Slow In Mailinig Christmas Packages; Other News Of Seventh Ward

People of the Seventh Ward seem to be slow in mailing their Christmas packages, letters and cards. According to E. M. McBride, apparently more Christmas packages are now coming into the office than are going out of the city from the local office.

Persons having packages to mail should get them into the office as soon as possible. Of course, there are many people of the ward who are sending Christmas packages, but business is not nearly as heavy at the local postoffice as it should be for just the week before Christmas.

Do not wait until next week to mail your packages. For someone might get left, for with business not being as heavy as it should be this week there is bound to be a great rush next week. Remember, you are not the only person in the ward, so get your packages and cards into the office this week.

Some people from the main part of the city who, going to the postoffice and finding many people ahead of them waiting to mail their packages, instead of waiting, and having automobiles, get in their cars and come to the Mahoningtown postoffice. This has been done by a number of people.

Revivals In Local Church Nearing Close

The evangelistic services in the Mahoning Methodist church will end with the service Sunday evening. Wednesday evening was observed as Sunday school night. Classes sat together during the service.

The text of the sermon was from Luke 19:10. "For the Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which is lost." Rev. Maitland spoke of this verse as a companion verse for John 3:16. Christ's mission in the world, why He came. The love of God for sinners which caused Him to come. That God's love is stronger than a mother's love. That a mother's love is partial, loving her own, but God loves all.

Tonight is ladies' night at the revival. The men are also invited to attend in courtesy to the women who attended the men's night meeting. There will be a men's choir tonight and special music.

State Troopers Called To Guard Negro Murderer

Governor Pinchot Orders Out State Troopers To Quell Lynching Talk

(International News Service)

MEDIA, Pa., Dec. 16.—State troopers today are guarding the Delaware county jail here as the result of reports reaching Governor Gifford Pinchot that an attempt would be made to lynch Ollie Strickland, Delaware negro, under indictment for the murder of a white girl.

Up to an early hour today there had been no sign of disorder in the community. The city is virtually under martial law.

Officials of the jail refused to discuss the probability of mob violence and at the court house it was said that the troopers, county detectives, police and prison guards numbering 70 men were well prepared to resist any attempt to drag Strickland from his cell. He is alleged to have confessed to the brutal murder of 18-year-old Emily Collins during an attempted holdup on December 8 last.

MARTIAL LAW IS LIKELY FOR WILMERDING

May Ask Governor Pinchot To Send Militia Into Community

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 16.—Martial law loomed today for Wilmerding borough, where gangsters' guns took the life of Harry Davenport, constable, and threatened death to five other borough officials this week unless efforts to purge the suburb's foreign quarter of its undesirables is abandoned.

Dr. J. Alvin Orr chairman of the Allegheny County Citizens' Protective league today stood committed to a plan to ask Governor Pinchot to send militia into the district if local authorities fail to cope with conditions which cost the constable his life and led to open threats against the lives of several others.

Fear that the funeral of the slain officer this afternoon would be attended by demonstrations by denizens of the underworld believed responsible for his death led police to detail extra guards for the Davenport home. Meantime indications were that John and Guy Volpe recognized political leaders in Wilmerding and Joseph Mandella who were arrested in connection with Davenport's death wiuld be released shortly because of lack of evidence against them.

Mistakes Acid For Throat Gargle

Young Woman Taken To Hospital After Mistake In Taking Medicine

Miss Ruth Meyers of Allen street narrowly escaped fatal injuries at her home as the result of mistaking a bottle of carbolic acid for a bottle of throat gargle medicine which she was using.

The young woman fortunately did not swallow much of the contents of the bottle although her throat and mouth were painfully burned. She was removed to the New Castle hospital immediately after the accident where it was reported today that her condition was improving.

It is believed that she will be able to leave the hospital the latter part of the week.

Prisoner Takes "French" Leave

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 16—With a bench warrant issued for his arrest, county authorities today searched for Frank Neroni of Mather, Pa., who disappeared from court shortly before he was to have been sentenced. Neroni's bail was declared forfeited and the search begun when he failed to return to court after being granted permission to talk wih his brother outside the court room.

A MAGIC LETTER

A magic letter has been received this week by the Federated clubs of the city. We call it a magic letter because every woman who adopts its clear practical suggestions will thereby multiply many times her joy in the blessed Christmas time. And because this magic is not confined to club women, they wish to share this beautiful letter with friends old and young of either sex.

December First, 1926.

Dear Co-workers:

Christmas is the happiest time of the year for most of us, but there are many who have not caught its real significance. Those who think of Christmas in terms of material things receive little blessings from the day which has been set aside that we might have an opportunity to think on all the beautiful attributes of character,—humility, sacrifice, sentiment, gratitude, and above all love.

The Club women of Pennsylvania can do much to radiate a new spirit of Christmas in the homes of their local communities. I shall make ten suggestions.

1. Encourage family gatherings and reunions in the home; there is a growing tendency to have the Country Club and Houses of Amusement take its place. Family traditions and affections are kept alive by the spirit that hovers about at this Season.

2. Be sincere in your gift giving. It is hypocrisy to send a gift except where love is the messenger. Try to eliminate the spirit of barter and exchange.

3. Budget your Christmas money and encourage all with whom you have an influence to do so, especially the young married people. Many seeds for unhappiness in homes are sowed when the bills come in for indiscreet buying at holiday time. No one is under obligations to give a gift beyond his means.

4. Encourage children to make gifts. Show appreciation of these gifts by keeping them where the children can see that they are being used. Some of life's greatest lessons in character building can be taught at Christmas if only parents will take this opportunity to spend time with the little folks. Christmas should be the children's day.

5. Shop early. Many boys and girls must work far into the night wrapping and delivering packages that could have been arranged for days before. Thousands of young people spend most of Christmas day in bed because of the thoughtlessness of late shoppers.

6. Remember the humble folks who have served you during the year, if your remembrance can only be a word of gratitude for a kindness.

7. If every Club will concentrate on one worthy family where there are children, and perhaps an invalid father, the community which you serve will be richer all the year. (I know of one Club last Christmas that paid a fifty dollar note in the bank which had taken hours of sleep from the breadwinner of the family, a mother of five children.)

8. Discourage gift-giving in the public schools and Sunday schools except where the gift can be sent to the home. Children are very sensitive and many a child's heart has been made sad because he had no gift among the collection which lay on the teacher's table.

9. Endeavor to have helpful talks on "The real spirit of Christmas" in our High Schools. If we wish to create a spirit of Sincerity in the human family, we must begin with the young people.

10. We cannot hope to have National or International Peace unless we first have peace in our own hearts. If you are not big enough to forgive the woman who slighted you on a committee, if you are not wise enough to know that your neighbor has been endowed with a different disposition from yours but perhaps has wonderful characteristics which you lack, if you do not attempt to see that there are always two sides to a question, and are not patient to view both sides, if you are not generous enough to say good-morning to your neighbor even tho you have had a disagreement,—then you are not doing your part to hasten that Christmas when there shall be "Peace on Earth and Good Will Among Men."

That this may be a Happy Christmas for you all, is the wish of your chairman of the Home Department.

Putting Limestone In Sampson Street

Superintendent of Street Louis Genkinger today stated workmen in his department are coating the north end of Sampson street with limestone.

Health department trucks must travel the thoroughfore to the furnace and it has been claimed, in the past, that the condition of the road bed from the end of the present paving, has been in deplorable condition and has caused damage to trucks.

Genkinger believes the limestone coating will prove a big benefit to travel.

Marriage Licenses Hit By Cold Wave

Old folks are not the only ones who are staying in the house on account of the present cold wave. Dan Cupid, even seems afraid to venture out. From noon yesterday until noon today no marriage licenses were issued at the court house. This is unusual, especially at this season, with the holidays approaching. However, Santa Claus is likely to bring a big rush of applicants before Christmas. There is something facinating about a wedding on Christmas, that appeals very strongly to the young folks.

Let the luxury of jewels speak your highest wish

The jeweled gift is a luxury—something not strictly required in the mere business of living. Yet, for that very reason, jewels surpass all ordinary gifts in expressing deepest affection or highest regard. In a necklace, ring, or bracelet—or, for the man, a scarf pin, ring, or cuff links—jewels will be treasured when other gifts are long since forgotten. Visit us today. We'll gladly help you select a fine and fitting remembrance.

Some Ideas About Autos By Students

In this day of the automobile, the principle of the gas engine, its parts and their functions, is a rather common topic of conversations where men are met together. It would seem that boys and girls would have some idea of the purposes of the different parts of the engine just from hearing them discussed but this is not the case as answers to a questionaire recently given to pupils taking elementary science at North Street indicates.

These, of course, are selected answers.

A flywheel is moved by stepping on the starter which moves the wheel, the top of the wheel touches the spark plug and the wheel revolves again and touches the spark plug again.

The cylinders are in the carburetor which is moved by the movement of the flywheel.

The cylinder is an object that keeps going up and down.

Gas when put in the engine is lighted and allowed to explode. This causes all the gases to rise and the car is suddenly pushed forward.

We get power from gas by the flywheel as it goes around it throws off the power and makes the car go.

The flywheel is a long thing in the automobile. At the bottom it has a little wheel which turns around and there are many little things at the top.

Foreign War Vets Banquet Tonight

Will Be Followed By Ceremonial Initiation At Legion Home

More than a hundred representative citizens, officials of the city, county, state and nation, business and professional men, veterans of the Civil, Spanish and World wars, will gather at the Fountain Inn this evening where they will attend the V. F. W. booster banquet to be served at 6:30.

An informal reception is being held at the hotel preceding the banquet, at which time the many friends of Congressman Swick, Captain Woodside and Fred Stover will have an opportunity of greeting these distinguished citizens.

Due to the limited seating capacity, the committee regrets that it has been impossible to make reservations for all those who have expressed a desire to attend and trust that it will be readily understood that it has not been with a desire to discriminate that requests have been refused.

The event promises to be of extraordinary brilliancy, and those who have been lucky enough to get reservations are looking forward to an evening of enjoyment combined with much that will be instructive and beneficial to those who are interested in civic progress.

Corp. Harry L. McBride post 522, Veterans of Foreign Wars, who will be the host, feel that the affair will be a fitting climax for the activities of the year 1926, which has been filled with prosperity for them, and expect that it will be an incentive to make even greater progress during the approaching new year.

The booster banquet will start promptly at 6:30 and it is planned to conclude not later than 9 o'clock, after which a special ceremonial initiation will be conducted in the post rooms at the legion home, 134 North Jefferson street.

A large class of recruits will at this time be inducted into the organization, among whom will be included Congressman-elect Swick, Mayor William H. Dunlap, who has recently been elected to life membership, and Hon. S. Plummer Emery, who will receive an honorary degree in recognition of his tireless efforts for the assistance of veterans.

The ceremonial work of the initiation will be conducted by a crack degree team from the Joseph T. Black post of Butler, of which Past Commander-in-Chief Stover is a charter member.

Delegations from Butler, Sharon, Leechburg, Rochester, Youngstown and Pittsburgh will attend the initiation, which will of course be limited to members.

Many Pupils To Change Schools

The end of the first semester will see many changes in the schools of New Castle, many changes will be made, some students leaving one school, and others coming in to take their place. Take for instance the case at Ben Franklin Junior High. There will be seven classes leaving here for the Senior High School, and many more will be coming in.

The number of pupils leaving is approximately one hundred and seventy five.

As far as is known now, there will be two hundred fifty nine pupils coming into the Ben Franklin. They will be leaving Lincoln-Garfield, Terrace, Home Street, Aiken, Croton, Rose Avenue, and Oak Street.

Here And There Over The State

(International News Service)

SUNBURY—Use of profanity on the witness stand drew a fine of $10 for Michael Vidas, of Mount Carmel, defendant in an assault and battery case being tried in the Northumberland county criminal court. The judge imposed the fine with a threat of a jail sentence if more profane words were used on the witness stand.

GETTYSBURG—The honor for killing the largest deer during the 1926 season in Adams county went to Paul Bream, 16-year old Cashtown boy, according to local sportsmen. The lad killed an eight-point buck which weighed 160 pounds. It was claimed to be the largest deer seen in this part of the state in recent years.

YORK—Missing for more than twenty-five years, the York county court has been asked to declare Ross M. Lanius, formerly of Hopewell township, near here, legally dead so that disposition may be made of a $6,783 estate. The estate was left to Lanius by his father, the late Edward W. Lanius. A hearing on the application will be heard February 7.

WAYNESBORO — Benjamin F. Knepper, a farmer living here, has discovered what he believes is a valuable deposit of iron ore on his farm. Analysists have reported that samples of the deposits found by Knepper show about 60 per cent purity in ore. The extent of the deposit has not yet been determined.

YORK—"Dirt and diet," according to Dr. Mary Riggs Noble, chief of the Child Welfare Division of the State Department of Health, are the chief factors in running up the state's mortality among infants. Conditions of water and milk come next, she said, speaking here before the Women's Club of York.

McKNIGHTSTOWN—After hunting deer for twenty-five years, Harry E. Riddlemoser, of this town, was successful for the first time during the 1926 season. He killed his long hunted buck in the mountains near here.

LARKSVILLE—More than 200 property owners of Larksville have organized in an effort to gain relief from the mine cave menace. They allege that the coal companies in obtaining the coal have caused large cave-ins which have damaged highways and property. A committee has been appointed to call upon the officials of the Hudson Coal Company at Scranton for the purpose of reaching some settlement and relief in the matter.

Harry B. Hawes, the new United States senator from Missouri, had five great-grand-fathers who served under Washington in the Revolution.

A visit to our store will simplify your Christmas shopping, and enable you to make your candy gifts each a personal choice.

We are now and have been for many years the only authorized Whitman's Agency in New Castle and every package of Whitman's Candy is shipped direct from their factory to us and is doubly guaranteed.

Give Fragrance

Fragrance was the first Christmas gift.

Perhaps that is why fragrance seems so appropriate a gift for Christmas—even so long afterwards and under such different conditions.

But whatever the reason, fragrance and Christmas are inseparable. Myrrh and frankincense are expressed today in many exquisite creations—perfumes just as precious, just as full of meaning.

We offer an extensive line of Perfumes and Toilet Articles of the best foreign and domestic makers such as—

Houbigant
Roger & Gallet
Coty
Caron
Pineaud
Piver
Pleville
Hudnut
Vivadou
Melba
Colgate
Alfred Wright

Among these many fragrant products, you will be sure to find just the right gift for Christmas—a single bottle of some particular flower extract, a delicately perfumed powder, and artistic compact, or a beautiful box of several fragrant toilette articles.

Workman Steps Into Hot Metal, Badly Burned

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 16—Pendry Davis, West Side, well known local man, is suffering from sever burns received last evening about 7 o'clock at the Valley Mould when he slipped and stepped with both feet into a hot mould. Fellow workmen rushed to his assistance and pulled him out immediately. The one foot is burned deeper than the other, the heel being burned almost off. According to doctors it will be a long time before he will be able to put on shoes. Davis is employed as a moulder at the plant.

PARK TOO CLOSE AND PAY FINES

One of the habits of motorists here is of parking too close to the street intersections. It is one of the worst habits they have according to the police, as it is a most frequent cause of accidents.

Two more of this type of offenders were assessed fines yesterday paying $3 each. They were Ben Shulansky and William Clark. They were turned in by Officer Faella.

New Castle Co-Eds Have Large Part In Doll Show

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 16.—That Westminster College students have among other talents, a proficient one for dramatic work, was strikingly portrayed at the doll show given by the Y. W. C. A. of the college Tuesday evening in the Community Theatre. It was by far the finest play that has been presented here in several years.

The play opened with a Christmas eve scene, a loving mother assisted by a maid, preparing gifts for the little daughter of the family. Many beautiful dolls are received and grouped about the little tree in a realistic style. The old doll, the favorite of the little girl during the past year is cast aside. The second scene was the "hit" of the evening. With each of the dolls represented by a co-ed attired in doll clothes, a pretty scene was enacted. Each of the dolls came out of their respective boxes and held a conclave in which several danced and each expressed their hopes for the future. Each of the new dolls scorned the old favorite of the little daughter.

The third scene portrayed Christmas morning. The little girl of the home, discovers all the wonderful dolls, and after expressing her delight with each one, she begins to seek her old favorite. The scene and play ends with the daughter depriving the most haughty of the new dolls of her beautiful fur coat and clothing her old doll of the past year with it, to the consternation of her mother and maid.

Between acts, two excellent sketches were given. In the first, Miss Ruth Fraser, of Ben Avon, attired in a beautiful Spanish gown, sang two Spanish favorites. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Eleanor Warner of New Castle and by John Louden of Mars, on the violin. Louden also sang with Miss Fraser in the chorus of her first song.

In the second sketch Miss Betty Glover of New Castle and Dean Anderson of Philadelphia, staged a side-splitting dance. Attired in Apache costume and to the tune and words of "Down by the Winegar Works," the couple danced and scored heavily in their reception. James Trotter of Pittsburgh, accompanied at the piano.

Miss Ruth Lewis of New Castle, as mother, played one of the leading roles of the doll play. Miss Theda Hartwell of New Wilmington, as the maid, was typical of that type of domestic servant. Miss Gladys Bebout of Pittsburgh, was very realistic as the little daughter. Miss Helen Goldstrom of Elizabeth, as Genevieve, the old doll, early won the sympathy of her audience. Other dolls were: Fashionable Lady, Miss Lorena Garloch, of North Girard; Marie Antoinette, Miss Mary Eccles of Sharpsville; Harlequin, Miss Frances Leohner of New Castle; Baby, Miss Janet Roett of Sharon; Peasant, Miss Margaret Lennig of New Castle; Soldier, Miss Phyllis Coley of Cochranton and Japanese, Miss Margaret McFate of New Castle.

Much of the credit for the play is due Miss Dorothy Nevin of Pittsburgh, who assisted in the coaching. Mrs. Mary McConagha of the college faculty, also aided in the directing.

The most peaceful home is one in which both partners agree that one is superior.

IT IS SERIOUS BUSINESS—

To be the father of a small son.
To be responsible for training tomorrow's citizens.
To be intrusted with the handling of other people's money.
To hold the lives of other people's loved ones in our hands.
To live if one believes that he is immortal.

Railroaders Save Two From Death

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 16—Saved from impending death here last night by railroad employes, Ezra Watton and U. G. Nuce, both of Morgantown, were lodged in jail today on charges of being intoxicated.

Watton was found on the Baltimore & Ohio tracks in a dazed condition while a speeding train was headed in his direction. Nuce fell into the waters of the Monongahela river nearby and was drowning when trainmen pulled him to safety.

Butler County Chiropractors To Get Prison Terms

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 16.—W. H. Jobe and C. N. Tolley, Butler chiropractors, today awaited sentence on charges of practicing medicine without licenses following conviction of Jobe by a jury late yesterday before Judge J. H. Henninger here. Tolley, whose trial was scheduled for a later date, entered a plea of guilty when the verdict against Jobe was returned.

Jobe's case, which was expected to be a test of the state licensing law as applied to chiropractors, was bitterly contested.

Frank Tinney Is Under Treatment

Reading Officers Baffled By Death Of Man And Wife

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., Dec. 16.—Authorities today were trying to solve the mystery surrounding the strangling to death of Mrs. Mabel Snyder, 30, and the death of her husband, Harold, 26, under the wheels of a speeding express train.

Mrs. Snyder's body was found stretched across her bed. Death was pronounced due to strangulation. The body showed signs of battering and her face bore several cuts. Bruises and finger prints marked her throat.

When Snyder failed to return home, detectives started a search for him. It ended in an undertaking parlor where friends identified the body of a man mangled by a train, as Snyder's.

Coke Production Shows Decrease

Heaviest Curtailment Of Year In Coke Market Seen In Past Week

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 16.—One of the heaviest curtailments of the year in coke production, with a drop of 12,660 tons, took place during the past week, International News Service weekly survey showed today.

The regional output was forced down to 125,980 tons, which, with the exception of four weeks during the summer, was the lowest level of the year. The furnace interests led in the paring process, with a cut of 10,900 tons, while the merchant reduction was 1,760 tons. The furnace interests showed a tendency to reducing running time in preference to blowing out ovens, which is taken to indicate confidence in a turn for the better after the first of the year.

A total of 445 ovens were blown out dufing the week at furnace plants and 27 at merchant plants. Merchant plants have held operations down to barest needs for some time, necessitating a smaller cut than that of the furnace plants.

Spot prices declined 25 cents on the ton during the week, quotations being $3.50 to $3.75 for furnace and $4.75 to $5.25 for foundry.

No action has been taken toward a proposed reduction in wages to counteract the advances made at the time the British coal strike seemed destined to continue indefinitely. It was indicated, however, that a cut is forthcoming by one of the large regional interests to stave off partial suspension of operations.

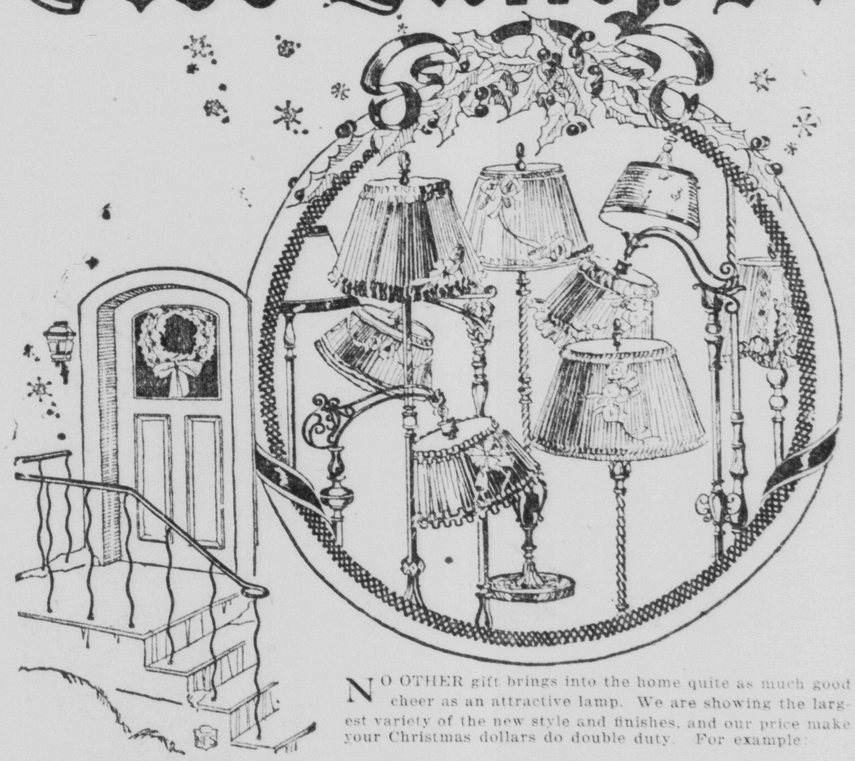
Gift Lamps!



NO OTHER gift brings into the home quite as much good cheer as an attractive lamp. We are showing the largest variety of the new style and finishes, and our price make your Christmas dollars do double duty. For example:

Bridge Lamps	Table Lamps	Floor Lamps
$4.95	$6.75	$9.75
Although we show a great many different styles, at a wide range of prices, there is a particularly good showing at this popular figure. The best ones will, of course, be chosen first and set aside for future delivery, so act quickly.	Here, too, our stock affords a wonderful variety for the early chooser. The most beautiful designs in bases, complete with shades that are the last word in style and material. Certainly worth your while to select early.	Never in our history have we shown so many or such a varied assortment of beautiful floor lamps. The qualities will amaze you and the prices are the best reason in the world for doing your Christmas shopping early.

Early selections are best. Act at once.

Dr. Conklin Says Evolution Of Man Has Passed Peak

PRINCETON, Dec. 16.—Dr. Edwin Grant Conklin, eminent biologist and head of that department at Princeton University, believes that evolution of the individual human has passed the peak and is halted.

When interviewed here Dr. Conklin pointed out that evolution depends to a great extent upon the changing of physical environment and that man is singularly free from sun changes in modern civilization.

"In cold climates man does not have to grow a thicker coat of hair in order to keep from freezing to death. He can put on or off heavier clothing as he pleases. In the same way he can modify food so that a modification of teeth or stomach is not needed. Therefore, what few changes there are of a degenerative nature, due to the less rigid elimination of physical imperfections under conditions of civilization than in a state of barbarism or savagery."

Princeton's foremost biologist said he believed the statement of Galaton to the effect that "the average ability of the classical Greek race was, on the lowest estimate, as much higher than that of the English race of the present day as the latter is above that of the African Negro." Dr. Conklin said, "Even in the most distant future there may never appear such geniuses as Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Shakespear, Newton, Darwin."

THIRTEENTH HIS LUCKIEST YEAR

BANGOR, Pa., Dec. 16.—Twelve years of unsuccessful deer hunting, Russell Buzzard, of this city, went forth this season, his thirteenth, with the expectation that this would be similar to the rest. He had not been in the Pocono mountains more than two hours on December 1 when he brought down his deer. Buzzard now has faith in the number "thirteen," he said.

"MISS SPITFIRE V" BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Folk Dances To Be On Trial In Dearborn, Mich.

(International News Service)

DEARBORN, Mich., Dec. 16.—Folk dances popularized by Henry Ford and his old time fiddlers will go on trial tonight before a parents jury in the auditorium of the Dearborn high school.

Children of all ages will give an exhibition of the old time steps to refute the charges raised in a petition which asked that instruction in dancing be barred from the school curriculum. The petition scored the dances as "immoral" and unfit to be taught to school children.

Dr. Frederick C. Krumling, former medical missionary and pastor of the Evangelist church, circulated the petition. He obtained 200 signers who asked that the classes conducted by Benjamin B. Lovett, dancing master for Henry Ford be discontinued.

30,000 PARROTS; SEVENTY MONKEYS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Like a motor-driven section of South American jungle the Panama Mail steamer, Ecuador, warped into its dock with more than 30,000 furred and feathered pets for the Christmas trade.

Besides its cargo of some 4,-000,-000 pounds of Colombian coffee, the Ecuador bore 4000 cases of rare species of pets. There were 30,000 parrots, 350 parakeets, a large number of macaws and more than seventy monkeys.

The human passengers who came as follow travelers with the birds and monkeys reported with commendable restraint that at no time during the voyage had they been unaware of the presence of their co-voyagers.

FIND SIGNS OF ASIATIC MIGRATION

SEATTLE, Dec. 16.—Half buried mud hovels of primitive design, held upright by ivory tusks, found on the uninhabited, rocky islets in Bering Sea, have furnished additional evidence that the first inhabitants of America might have come from Asia, by way of Alaska.

The dwellings were discovered by officers of the cutter Algonquin of the United States coast guard's Arctic patrol while cruising the eastern edge of St. Lawrence Island, midway between Alaska and Siberia.

The islets were off the southeast cape of St. Lawrence Island. In the frozen earth the guardsmen uncovered skulls and bones of humans and lower animals and crude metal implements.

Two of the skulls were forwarded to the Smithsonian Institution. A peculiarity of the skulls found on the island was that one side of the jaws of each appeared to be more developed than the other.

Cleveland Has Annual Fight On Christmas Tree

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 16.—The perennial debate has ended—in its usual manner—Cleveland will have a municipal Christmas tree on the "Square" again this year.

Each season certain citizens lustily remonstrate over the expense to which the city is put in furnishing a tree and 1926 has been no exception, except that a bigger and better tree is to be provided.

Workmen are now cutting a 70-foot conifer which is to be set up at once and illuminated with thousands of vari-colored electric lights.

The square here provides an ideal setting for such a celebration. Thousands of pigeons disport there by day. The tree is to remain in place until after New Years.

Canadian Hen Breaks Record

(International News Service)

AGASSIZ, B. C., Dec. 16.—"Maizie", a white leghorn hen owned by the University of British Columbia has broken the world's egg-laying record, according to an announcement issued here by the Dominion experimental farm.

The new barnyard queen laid 351 eggs in a 365-day test supervised by the Canadian department of agriculture. Hens from all parts of the Dominion competed in the nation-wide egg-laying derby. Previous egg-laying championship was held by an Australian hen, which produced 347 eggs in a 12-months' test in 1924.

Dart Throwing Is New Sport

(International News Service)

OXFORD, Eng., Dec. 16. — The possibility of Yale or Harvard being challenged to a "dart throwing" match is foreseen with the announcement that athletic Oxford has taken up "dart throwing."

An association has been formed, called the Oxford and District Dart Throwing Association, to promote the game. The sport consist of throwing little feathered darts at a target some feet away. It is one of the oldest games in England, but this is the first time a University has taken it seriously.

Studies Industry

Dr. Adolph Reichwein (above), professor of geographical economics at Jena University, Germany, touring the United States by motor and soon departing for Alaska, is studying American industrial efficiency. He is the official representative of German Science, an organization backed by the government as well as private capital. Of our institutions, he ranks agricultural colleges among the highest.

TAPESTRIES ARE GIVEN TO YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 16.—Tapestries which hung more than two centuries on the walls of historic Glemham Castle, Suffolk, England have been given to Yale University by Edward S. Harkness of New York and are in the University theater for the erection of which Mr. Harkness provided more than $1,000,000.

The tapestries were woven in 1700 for Elihu Yale whose name the University bears by John Canderbank "Royal Yoemans Arras Worker" of his day.

Inspired by the first Chinese lacquer screens imported into England the tapestries generally are considered the finest examples of English chinoiseries known to exist. Through agents Mr. Harkness recently bought them from the Earl of Guilford for approximately $33,000.

Bosses shouldn't complain. As a rule a boss has employees just as efficient as he is as a boss.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART,
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Senator Tom Walsh of Montana is a bit too old to play Hamlet.

It's an infinite pity. He was made for the part, physically and mentally.

Observe him, enroute from his quarters in the Senate Office Building to the Capitol, to "start something".

He has a thin, highly intelligent, ascetic, hatchet face, with a very wide, lofty forehead. He's profoundly abstracted. He doesn't see the people he's passing. He scowls introspectively. His mouth is bitter. If he'd lived, Hamlet would have had just such a physiognomy at 67.

Walsh is a slight, smallish individual, but active, like a swordsman, same as Hamlet. He strides briskly. He's on his way to skewer somebody and is in a hurry to get there, as Hamlet would have been.

* * *

Walsh drips gloom, pessimism. He never smiles. He never jokes. He can't see anything funny in other folk's jokes. His mission is vengeance and he can't wast a minute on anything else until he's wreaked it.

If he ever had a sense of humor it's atrophied.

During the epidemic of senate investigations a couple or three years ago, somebody asked Walsh "How do you account for all these government scandals in a bunch?" and the senator answered unhesitatingly, "The Republican party's in power."

Another Democrat might have said this jocularly, but not Walsh. He spoke in all seriousness and sincerity.

* * *

It was the opening day of the short session of the 69th congress and it was his purpose to make the first speech and raise the first hades of the occasion—to usher in the session with a demand for the investigation of charges made against Arthur R. Gould, new Republican senator from Maine, in the recent campaign in that state.

He made his speech, re raised his hades and the senate adopted his investigation resolution.

Walsh settled back in his seat contentedly. He didn't smile but he looked satisfied. He had pointed to something which may possibly prove to be rotten in the state of Denmark.

* * *

As an instigator of troublesome investigations, Senator Jim Reed of Missouri is the only member of the upper house of congress in a class with Senator Walsh.

Reed investigates largely in a spirit of pure mischief. He likes to get a witness on toast and have fun with him. He's a witty senator. His wit has a good deal of malice in it and a good deal of partisanship, but he can see a joke's point, even when it's at his expense, and get a laugh out of it.

To Walsh an investigation is a painful thing. He's sorry there's so much wickedness in the world. He regrets that the opposition party can't play honest politics, as his party does, in his opinion. He considers it his duty to expose wrongdoing and he goes ahead and exposes as much as he can of it, but he doesn't get any enjoyment out of it. At any rate, he doesn't get the same kind that Senator Reed does.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 16.—Scores of guests of an adjoining hotel were forced to flee in their night clothing to the street, where the thermometer registered 15 degrees above zero, and several other structures were threatened when fire believed to have been caused by gasoline explosions today destroyed two buildings here, occupied by two automobile concerns. The loss was estimated at $150,000.

CO-EDS DEMAND COLLEGE RIGHTS

Gettysburg Co-eds Surprise Student Body By Action Taken

(International News Service)

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Dec. 16.—The co-eds at Gettysburg college have stepped out to declare their rights and privileges at the institution in accordance with the present age of feminine equality.

Breaking all precedents at the college, the co-eds, who heretofore had to be invited and accustomed to attend chapel exercises only on Wednesday mornings, marched into the Monday morning exercises in a body. That was not all; they called a meeting for women only in connection with the chapel exercises. Never before had such a thing been done. They had the consent of the dean of men of the college.

This meeting was not half as startling to the male students as was the results which came from it. They formulated and adopted a progressive program which will be put into effect after a number of petitions have been presented to the proper authorities.

Petitions will ask for the following:

The appointment of an advisor for women.

The election or appointment of a co-ed editor on the staff of the "Gettysburgian", the weekly publication of the college.

The granting of the college letter to any woman qualifying on any athletic team of the college. An especially designed letter for women has been agreed upon by the petitioners to the athletic council.

Another matter discussed by the women, but which did not reach its final stage, related to chapel attendance. It is probable that before long the co-eds will ask that they be allowed the privilege of attending chapel every day instead of only on Wednesdays.

Dr. Salem Heilman P. H. C. Examiner Dies In Hospital

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 16.—Dr. Salem Heilman, 79 years old, dean of Mercer county physicians, and supreme medical examiner of the Protected Home Circle, died in Buhl hospital yesterday afternoon after an illness of several months. December 6 Dr. Heilman arose from bed to turn on a light in his room, and fell, fracturing his hip. This is believed to have hastened his death. Dr. Heilman was born in Kittanning.

For 28 years he was surgeon of the Fifteenth regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, holding the rank of major. He served throughout the Spanish-American war. He was transferred to the United States volunteers as a major after the transfer of the old Fifteenth to the United States volunteers, retaining the rank of major, being chief surgeon of the Pennsylvania forces.

Dr. Heilman was a lifelong Democrat, and twice received the nomination of his party for congress. In 1894 he was elected burgess of Sharon and served three years.

He was a former president of the Mercer County Medical society and was a member of the Pennsylvania State Medical society and American Medical Association. He leaves one son, Dr. Ralph H. Heilman of Sharon.

Emperor Takes Turn For Worse

(Special To The News)

TOKIO, Dec. 16.—The condition of Emperor Yoshihito, critically ill of bronchial pneumonia, took a sudden turn for the worse today, according to an official bulletin issued by attending physicians. The patient's pulse was quickening rapidly.

The entire cabinet and all members of the privy council were ordered to speed to the imperial palace at Hayama, where the emperor lies ill.

Students At Bessemer Enjoy Many Activities

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Dec. 16.—It is the week before vacation and Bessemer students, both from the grade building and the high school are in a high state of excitement. Christmas programs are being prepared, the various clubs are having extra activities, and everyone is making an honest endeavor to make a good record before Santa makes his annual round.

The students of the grade school will give two entertainments this coming week.

The pupils of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades will present on Monday, December 20th, at 8 p. m., a cantata entitled, "Catching Kris Kingle."

The second grades will give an operetta, "Capturing Santa Claus." This will include about 75 children, many of them in costume.

The first grades will give a miscellaneous program consisting of recitations, songs, and exercises.

The first, second and third grades will give their entertainment on Tuesday evening, December 21st. Both programs will be given in the high school auditorium.

The Tuesday afternoon activities have been thriving at Bessemer high. They give the student an unusual opportunity for self expression.

The Girl Scouts continue to meet their qualifications. Their last lesson was spent in a study and review of the ten laws of the Girl Scout Order. The Scouts plan to have a Christmas program at their next meeting and will exchange presents.

The Science club, supervised by Mr. Winters, had a very interesting program. Numerous current scientific magazines are taken by the club. Each meeting special reports are given from popular subjects in the magazine. At the last meeting Mr. Winters gave a lecture on the work of the Analytical Balance.

The History club also expects to have a Christmas program at its next meeting. The meetings of this club are both interesting and educational. Part of each period is spent in reading and discussing interesting current topics.

The Cooking club, which meets in the domestic science room, is envied by all. They made delicious marshmallows at the last meeting.

The Scout club, at the last meeting was called together by Chairman Wolfe. The meeting was unusually important. Reports were given by club members and directions for playing scout games were read. The club supervisor, Mr. Lukkarila, assigned reports for the next indoor meeting. It was decided that the members of the club would go for a hike next Saturday. The scouts are to meet near the Bessemer Drug store. They all look forward to a good time.

The "Jim club" under the direction of Mr. Byler, met for its weekly meeting in the gym. Half of the hour was spent in calisthentics and the other half was given over to games of various kinds to develope brainwork and teamwork. The main purpose of this activity is to develop the physical side of school life.

The Journalism club, at the present time, is studying the subject of "advertising." This club spends part of each period writing up the weekly column for the "New Castle News."

Last Tuesday evening we were very well diverted by the "Music Land Entertainers." This company consisted of two artists, Mr. Beek and his wife. Mr. Beek was quite gifted on musical instruments. He is one of the most versatile young artists on the platform. Mrs. Beek is equally gifted in piano and voice. Their costume groups were one of the most delightful features of the program. These numbers were a great delight to every one present. The next number, January 21st, will be given by the great Indian Chief Strongheart. Without a doubt the building will be crowded then.

Last Thursday's chapel program was one of the most interesting of the year. One number which was the humorous debate between two freshmen. The subject as stated was: "I would rather be dumber than I look than look dumber than I am." Another major part of the program was a Mock Faculty meeting. In this the students imitated the teachers much to the amusement of all. The program was interesting throughout and each entertainer deserves credit. The next chapel will be under the supervision of Mr. Colton.

Last Thursday evening Mrs. Troop's Sunday school class entertained the young men's class. Games and contests were the entertainment for the evening. How could a group of young people remain quiet while playing such games as carrying messages, animals or catching fish. Before lunch was served names were given out to every one then great was the excitement while Andy tried to find Min or while Giggs was timidly searching for Maggie, etc. Mr. Eales proved to be an excellent entertainer.

Three interesting and amusing basketball games were played during the lunch hour this week. The first of the trio was between the faculty and seniors. After a well fought game the faculty came off with the honors carrying a score of 21 to 16. In the second game the Juniors won from the Freshmen a score of 16 to 9. The last game was between 7-1 and 7-2. It was the closest game of all. The 7-2 won by one point. That last point was made just as the final whistle blew.

Last Wednesday night the Bessemer Pirates played their first game of the season. The game was with Mahoningtown A. A. Bessemer is very proud of her Pirates and expects to witness many successful games.

The Eighth Grade Girls are having another party this Friday night. These girls are all studying the art of cooking and believe in practicing what they learn. Frances Griffin is to act as host at the supper party, while Jane Gilmore takes the part of hostess. Miss Dean and Mr. Colton haye been invited to be guests of honor. After the supper the girls will go to the "movie" of th evening.

The Bessemer movie this week to be a production of Zane Grey renowned novel, "Desert Gold The famous gang will again ente tain us with a comedy entitle "Good Cheer."

Two Ben Franklin Pupils Win Honor

Two girls attending school at the Ben Franklin Junior High School have taken honors in the check writing contest given by the "Business Educator." They are, Virginia Conti of 9A1 and Mildred Foster of 9A5. This contest was announced in the October issue of "The Business Educator," and many of the commercial students of the school competed in the contest. The awards for the first prize to receive "The Business Educator" for one year, and those receiving honorable mention were to receive one dozen ornamental name cards. The two Franklin girls won honorable mention rewards.

The fact that this contest was held all over the United States brings much honor to the girls winning the honorable mention.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, throat tickle, bronchial asthma, or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Open New Bridge At Beaver Falls

Recently Purchased Railroad Bridge In Valley Opened To Public

(International News Service)

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 16.—Purchased recently by Beaver county from the Pennsylvania Railroad and reconstructed for passenger, street car and automobile traffic, the bridge over the Beaver river between Beaver Falls and New Brighton was opened Wednesday.

E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, formally turned over the deed to the bridge to the county commissioners as ribbons at each end of the bridge were cut.

Beaver county paid $90,000 for the structure.

Plan For State Poultry Show

The Pennsylvania State Poultry Association and the Pennsylvania State Baby Chick Association will stage at Harrisburg, the most interesting and important meeting in which these organizations have ever co-operated, on January 19 and 20. The sessions will be held at the time of the annual State Farm Products Show. Farmers, back lotters, fanciers, commercial poultrymen, and others who have the interest of the poultry industry at heart will attend. Many of these will come from Lawrence county and some from New Castle.

Women never will be men's equals until men object to being hugged.

"Prince Charming" Intends To Fight Suit To Bitter End.

All Base Lies Says Elderly Grey Haired New York Real Estate Operator.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—"I'll fight this suit to the bitter end. Not one red cent will I pay Mary Louise Spas, let alone $500,000. Why, it's preposterous!"

Edward W. Browning, the elderly millionaire "Prince Charming," made this declaration today in a petulant voice when asked to comment upon the action of Mary Spas in suing him for half a million dollars.

Mary is the demure, golden-haired, brown eyed daughter of an Astoria, L. I., building superintendent whom Browning adopted on Aug. 4, 1925, amid a whirlwind of publicity only to relinquish her after a series of dramatic happenings climaxed by an investigation by the district attorney's office.

In her suit Mary charges that Browning "violently laid hands upon" her, held her a prisoner in his sumptuous apartment at Kew Garden, L. I., and frightened her into silence by repeatedly threatening her life she declares. Her nerves have been shattered as a result of her brief experience with Browning.

Browning wore a troubled and harassed expression on his weary, rather handsome face as he discussed the suit with an International News Service reporter in his office in West 72nd street.

"This suit spoils my Christmas plans," he said, sadly shaking his head. "I had intended doing good for a lot of poor people this Christmas but I'll have to call that plan off. I already had gone to the wholesales and ordered, 2000 suits of clothes and 1000 overcoats but I'll have to cancel the order and turn the money over to lawyers to fight this case.

She asks $400,000 for alleged shock, mental anguish, etc. A charge of attempted assault is included, valued at $50,000. She also asks $50,000 for having been "forced" to sign papers in connection with her annuled adoption.

"Why," declared Browning, running his fingers through his silvery hair, "These charges are all base lies. I was never anything but kind to Mary Spas. It's a frame-up. They're trying to make me a goat and extort money from me."

Mary in her complaint related intimate details of her relations with Browning at the time of her adoption by the "Cinderella Man" in the summer of 1925. She alleged that her original agreement with Browning called for her to act as a companion to his other adopted daughter, Dorothy "Sunshine" Browning.

After the adoption, however, she asserts, she went to Browning's apartment at Kew Gardens Inn, in Queens, and there he attempted to attack her. She alleges she was so terrorized she locked herself in the bathroom all night and that she finally drank a bottle of iodine.

Later, she charges, Browning showed a pistol to her and threatened to kill her and himself if she revealed what had happened to the district attorney.

"All lies, all lies!" wailed Browning. "Nothing of the sort ever happened. I was never anything but kind to her, and see what she is trying to do to me now."

SUNDAY THEATRE CLOSES IN YORK

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Dec. 16.—The showing of Sunday movies in York, inaugurated last July 4 by a local theatre manager amid a storm of protest from the city's clergy, has been discontinued.

Edward R. Moore, who operated the shows, said the Sunday showing was discontinued because he was unable to renew a lease for the house in which they were shown.

The closing of the Sunday shows leaves the management of the city parks to fight alone against the city's decision to stop paid Sunday amusements. So far a city ordinance passed after the Sunday shows were started, has never been enforced, Mayor E. S. Hugentugler having declared a "hands off" policy pending litigation on the matter.

Following the opening of the Sunday shows here last summer, the city's clergy turned out in a body to protest to the city council. The council replied to the protest by passing an ordinance prohibiting paid amusements on the Sabbath in York.

The council's action was followed by court action in which the managements of a local amusement park asked the courts for an injunction to restrain the city from enforcing the ordinance on the grounds that it is unconstitutional and discriminatory.

Argument on the injunction will be heard here December 21, with Judge Donald McPherson of Adams county on the bench.

Gardner

Word was received here last Thursday of the death of Mrs. Hunter of Altoona, who a few months ago spent a week in Gardner with the family of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Myers, who went at once to Altoona and have not yet returned home.

J. Ross Baldwin whose home is near Center United Presbyterian church is seriously ill with pneumonia at the Shenango Valley hospital. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson is improving slowly though still in her room. Her sister Mrs. J. H. Lowery of New Castle is with Mrs. Wilkinson much of the time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sherger of Gardner spent last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Sherger's sister, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Bevan and family of State street, New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Norris of Gardner entertained Mrs. Edward Lee and Miss Ella Boyd of Youngstown last Sunday.

Mrs. C. R. Bartley of New Castle was a dinner guest at the Robb home in Gardner on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gillespie of Celia stop on the Harmony line called on friends at Gardner last Saturday night.

Mrs. H. L. Wood and daughter Ella Jane of North Girard, Pa., are guests of Mrs. E. O. Alexander for several days.

J. W. Fombelle of East New Castle was a business caller in Ellwood City on Tuesday.

The 76th birthday of Mrs. Fanny Wood of Grimes street was celebrated on Wednesday by a family dinner at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Richard Williams and family of Gadrner.

The first pair of twins ever born in Gardner are receiving a great deal of attention, there were 29 callers last Sunday to see George Sidney and Laura Silvia Moore.

Miss Emma Cahill of New Castle who was a resident of Gardner for several years was a guest of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Thompson on Tuesday.

Lauretta, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Robison of Gardner will be operated on Thursday in the New Castle hospital for the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

Whooping cough was quite prevalent in our village for some time but the little folks seem to all have recovered nicely.

Young Women Of Mahoning Review Organize Society

The girls of Mahoningtown Review No. 98, Woman's Benefit association were entertained at the home of Miss Mary Kane of Seventh street Wednesday evening.

The purpose of the meeting was to organize a girls club. Mrs. Adda Stine of Butler, district supervisor was a guest and assisted in the organization. It was decided to name the club "Nous-Ai-Mon" club.

After the business session the girls were invited to the dining room where lunch was served. Christmas colors made an effective decoration. The hostess had for aides her mother Mrs. H. Kane and Mrs. H. Leighty. The next meeting of the club will be held in the Knights of Pythias hall East Washington street on January 13 at 7 o'clock.

Santa Wants To Hear From Boys And Girls

DOLL FOR GIRL

Santa Claus that jolly old fellow who makes the boys and girls happy at Christmas time and also brings joy and good cheer to the entire world, has set up his abode this year in his ice palace at the L. L. Swan and Co. store, 29 North Mill street, where he wants to see all the girls and boys in Lawrence county.

Every day from now until Christmas Santa will be in his famous ice palace surrounded by all the toys he has made, to greet the young folks and the old ones too. His hours are from 1 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. daily. You know Santa has to work and also has to rest and he can't keep very long hours.

Prizes For Letters

In order to have the children write Santa, Santa has authorized and will give personally to the writers of the best letters to him two very fine prizes. To the girl under ten years of age who writes the best letter a large and beautiful walking Mama Doll will be considered. And Santa knows that boys under ten years of age don't want dolls to play with so he will give one of the finest sleds he ever made, worth $10 of any boy's money to the boy who writes the best letter.

Now these prizes are worth while and Santa would like to have a great big number of letters to read from the girls and boys in Lawrence county. Start now to write yours and bring them in at once.

In order to have your letter read and judged it is necessary to hand it to Santa in our store. You can do that any afternoon or evening.

And in order to give the children a treat we have taken our entire stock of small toys ranging in price from 25 cents to $1.50 and have wrapped them all up in surprise packages. Every girl or boy who buys a ticket for 25 cents from Santa will get a package with his or her name on it.

Ice Palace A Wonder

Santa's ice palace is a wonderful place. It is beautifully made and every girl and boy will want to see it. There is no charge to get in and see jolly Old Santa in all his glory. And you can get the surprise package from Santa by paying the 25 cents. Every girl and boy will want to do this.

Watch the advertisements of the L. L. Swan and Co. store for further news of the letter writing contest. The judges and the date of closing will be announced later. But girls and boys be sure and write your letter to Santa. In picking out the best the age of the writer will be considered.

When you buy a surprise package from Santa it will have your name on it showing it was for you.

Billie Dove, featured actress of the screen, already has received one Christmas gift—a doll, as you can see.

Made Safe From Hurricanes

By the simple operation of cross-bracing the main limbs with grafts, John K. Gross, 82-year-old farmer, of York, Pa., has made this tree practically wind-proof. He believes that damage to orchards from high winds and gales may be reduced by this method. He is shown here with a tree that has been interwoven at six different points.

Straight Shooter

In the News' Spotlight

Admiral Edward W. Eberle told Congress that the American Navy had dropped below the 5-5-3 ratio. Mrs. H. P. Davison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman, gave birth to a boy. The Roman Rota nullified the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Washburn Child.

New York's East Side Loses Foreigners

For the first time in fifty years—since the Jewish immigration from Russia and Poland began—New York's picturesque East Side now shows a majority of native born, due to immigration restriction and the rise of a new generation. Photo shows group of young Americans of alien parentage at a school festival on the East Side. These young folk tip the scale to make a majority of native born.

Brothers Held in Poisoning of School Well

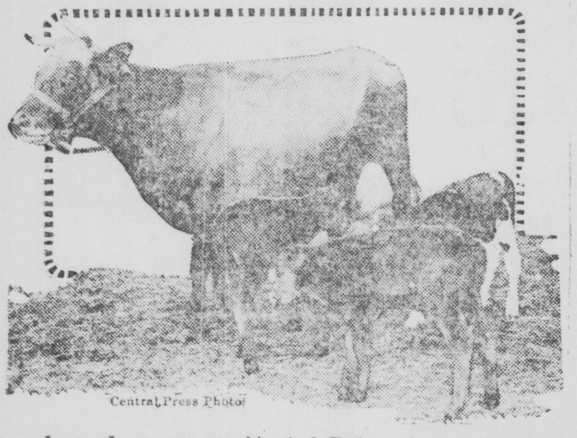
"Stormy Petrel" of Baseball Realm Is Reinstated: May Help Dodgers

Listed as a stormy petrel of baseball outlawry, Pitcher Norman Plitt was recently reinstated by Commissioner K. M. Landis after an absence from the big tent for five years. Plitt, a former sandlotter of York, Pa., deserted the ranks of the Brooklyn National League club when he was flattered with a five-ciphered contract from the Simmons club of a Mid-West outlaw organization. When his three-year contract expired in 1924 Plitt was given instructions by Wilbert Robinson, of the Brooklyn club, how to be reinstated. He pitched last season for the Kirksville team in the Illinois-Missouri league, winning 18 games against five defeats and thus aided his club materially in capturing its first pennant. Now he proposes to bolster the weakened Robin mound staff.

Triplets Are Born to Proud Jersey



June, a Jersey cow owned by A. J. Freborg, Spokane dairyman, does not believe in race suicide. She recently became the mother of three healthy, normal calves. June is a pretty busy mother these days but her whole family is doing fine. Seldom are triplets ever recorded in the cow family.

Will Give Children Treat On Saturday

Celebrating his 12th year in selling automobiles and a very successful year, Elrick H. Scarazzo proprietor of the State Auto Sales company 116-118 North Mercer street will give a candy treat to all the children of New Castle and Lawrence county who call at his place of business between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock Satuaday afternoon, December 18.

Mr. Scarazzo is expecting and is making preparations to treat several thousand children and has bought more than 1,000 pounds of very fine candy which he is having packed in suitable packages for distribution. The treat is absolutely free with no conditions attached and is for boys and girls. Mr. Scarazzo wants to meet them all and invites every one. There will be candy for several thousand but they must come between the hours designated 2 to 4 and only on Saturday.

So children here is your chance to get a Christmas treat free. It isn't often that a business man treats all the children just for the fun of it, but this year it is being done.

Now this is the only announcement Mr. Scarazzo is going to make, so read carefully and get the name, the location, the date and hours firmly in your mind. It is Saturday December 18 from 2 until 4 o'clock and the address is given above.

Will you be there boys and girls? Well, just show Mr. Scarrazzo.

Present Comedy At Union High

"All A Mistake" Excellently Portrayed On Wednesday Evening

"All a Mistake," the play given at Union High School by the alumni and students drew a fine attendance at its first showing last night. The play will be repeated tonight.

William Rech, who took the part of the dignified husband gave the audience some pointers on how they should act if they want to make the world think that they amount to something.

Of all the humorous actors in any dramatic club, in any school, few girls could make the audience laugh as did Margaret Davis in filling the role of the servant girl, which was a very funny part.

The climax of her string of side splitting scenes came when she finally landed her "Romeo," Ferdinand Lighthead, a very silly and chattering piece of "would be manhood." This part was taken very credible by Thomas Grittie. Of course every newly wedded couple must have a friend, Artis Royal taking this part, and giving a fine interpretation of a friend in need. Very few actors could take the part of a person, the kind who would be mistaken for a crazy man, as was Edward Carr in his part of the play, any better than did Edward.

One of the most difficult parts of the whole performance was given to John Turek, taking the part of an old captain. One of these loving old gentlemen who is always trying to play the part of cupid. The captain was responsible for the marriage of the husband and wife in the play.

In all this play is fine, and was, and will be tonight, an excellent entertainment.

The purpose of this display is to show the comparison of home made garments with the ready-made ones. The girls have shown that it is very easy to make just as dainty and attractive dresses for one half the price that the ready-made garments cost.

MYSTERY CAR CAN'T BE FOUND

Disappears From Street When Police Go To Recover Abandoned Car

Officer Thomas Lynch was detailed Wednesday afternoon to investigate an abandoned car standing in front of the home of Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn, 1013 West Washington street.

He found a Chevrolet touring car, 1925 model, Ohio license 914-378. There was no gasoline in the tank and the battery was dead. The officer found that the machine could not be operated.

He reported to the police station and Youngstown police authorities were called and asked if a car with that license number had been stolen.

The Youngstown police stated that they would report back in a short time.

As no report was received from Youngstown, the matter was forgotten, as it was presumed that there was nothing to the idea that the machine had probably been stolen.

This morning the owner of the car arrived at the police station here and stated the Youngstown police had informed him his machine could be secured from the police here. It had been stolen.

Owing to the slip-up of the Youngstown authorities in not reporting back here, the machine had not been placed in a garage, as a result of the known opposition of persons whose cars are sometimes picked up and placed in storage when apparently abandoned.

Immediately after the arrival of the owner Officer Lynch was again detailed and found the car gone. It could not be located any place at a garage or in the keeping of any individual.

The question now up for consideration is: "where is the stolen car, and did the first thief have it removed, or was it stolen a second time?" It was found that it was removed from West Washington street between 7:30 and 10 p. m. last night.

CAR IS TAGGED BY POLICE AND THEN IS STOLEN

That was the predicament that Joseph Dagnon, 462 Moore avenue found this morning when he appeared at the police station, parking tag in hand and asked if they had found the missing car.

Of course he did not have to pay the parking fine.

The car an Overland sedan 1926 model, Pennsylvania licence C11-297 was parked by the owner last night on Washington street in front of the Cooper and Butler store. When he went to get it at 11 o'clock it was gone.

It had been tagged previously and the tag had been removed from the car, otherwise the thief would have received the tag instead of Mr. Dagnon.

PIONEER OIL MAN IS DEAD

(International News Service)

BOWLING GREEN, O., Dec. 16.—Silas Kingsley, one of the oldest oil men in the country, died here today at the age of 76. Kingsley participated in the first oil boom in the United States when the Drake pool was discovered in Pennsylvania. Later he was active in oil promotion at Millerstown, Pa.

Install Bishop At Richmond, Va.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 16.—Right Rev. Andrew J. Brennan, formerly auxiliary bishop of Scranton, Pa., today was installed as bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Richmond. The ceremony took place in the Sacred Heart Cathedral, erected by Thomas Fortune Ryan, New York financier, a native of Virginia.

Game Warden And Local Officer Find Doe Carcass

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Dec. 16.—Jack Sines, the traveling game warden of New Castle, and Officer Hoover of the Ellwood City police, were tipped off yesterday to the fact that the carcass of a doe had been abandoned on the Hartzell farm, west of Ellwood. The officers found the carcass which weighed 105 pounds. It was donated to the New Castle hospital.

The officers are now on the trial of the hunter who shot the doe.

Elks Party Is Enjoyed At Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Dec. 16.—Twenty-five tables of bridge and five hundred enthusiasts enjoyed a party given by the local Elks in their club house last night.

Decorative features were worked out in firs, holly and bittersweet and formed a pleasing and seasonable background for the festivities. Following the cards the rugs were taken up and an informal dance enjoyed.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. A. Shapiro of Wampum; Mrs. Clyde Frishkorn, L. J. Sullivan and Max Ewing in the bridge game and to Mrs. K. K. Powell, Paul Grannis and Bill McCarthy in the five hundred game.

The evening concluded with the serving of delicious refreshments by the committee in charge.

Mrs. Sanders Is Hostess To Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 16.—The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Ewing Park Bridge Club took place last night at the home of Mrs. Frank Sanders. Twelve members were present, and an evening of bridge was enjoyed with Miss Minnie Jenkins and Mrs. Harry Laughlin receiving high score favors.

The club will be entertained in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Carl Murphy.

Virginia Sullivan Hostess To Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Dec. 16.—Virginia Sullivan, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Sullivan of Fifth street, was hostess to the members of the youngest club in town last evening, called the "Beebe" club.

The meeting disbanded at an early hour so the members could get their beauty sleep. Activities were games, sewing and members drew names so as to determine with whom each was to exchange a Christmas gift at the meeting next Wednesday night which will take place at the home of Mary Alice Patterson in the Pittsburgh Circle.

The lunch was served early, because kiddies can always enjoy themselves better after they eat, and decorations were carried out in holiday colors. A special guest was Robert Barry of Pittsburgh.

Girl Scout Officials At Mary Streeter Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Dec. 16.—A number of the local Girl Scout officials were entertained last evening at the home of Miss Mary Streeter in Ewing Park.

A brief business meeting took place, at which various scout activities were discussed. The balance of the evening passed pleasantly in a series of bridge games.

Officials present were: Hiss Hilma Dahl, Miss Marguerite Dambach, Miss Hilma Gaff, Miss Sally Golden, Miss Anna Stoughton, Mrs. J. M. Stoughton and Mrs. E. S. Dunbar. The next meeting will take place at the home of Miss Sally Golden on Park avenue.

Mr. And Mrs. Kegel Entertain Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 16.—A dainty dinner party marked the regular semi-monthly meeting of the members of the E. C. P. U. club last night and was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kegel on Glenn avenue.

Table appointments sounded a holiday note and the guests received dainty favors.

Following the dinner a series of bridge games were enjoyed with Mr. and Mrs. J. Reed Carpenter winning the high score awards. Members also exchanged Christmas gifts. The next meeting of the club will take place in two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baker.

Club members are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. J. Reed Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baker and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kegel.

Willing Workers Have Good Time

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Dec. 16.—The Willing Workers of the Willing Workers Bible class certainly were willing to have a good time last night at the Presbyterian church. The affair started auspiciously with a delicious tureen dinner. At this time a large number of dainty gifts were given to the forty-five members by the members in an exchange.

At the conclusion of the dinner, the members attended the regular weekly prayer meeting session. Following this was a Christmas party in which everyone took part with a will. Music was furnished by the men of the class on donated instruments, and provided much entertainment. All members voted the event one of the most enjoyable in the annals of the history of the Willing Workers class.

Members of the dinner committee were: Mesdames J. A. Gelbach, Fred Jackson, J. W. Humphrey, T. L. Haines and Miss Mary Humphrey. Members of the entertainment committee comprised: Mrs. W. A. Kerr, Mrs. Walter Veon and Mrs. J. L. Connard.

Knights Plan For Christmas

K. Of C. To Give Treat To 2000 Pupils In Parochial Schools.

WILL HAVE TREE AT K. Of C. HOME

Plans are about completed by the social committee of St. Mary's Council No. 512, Knights of Columbus, for the annual treat given by that organization to the kiddies of the parochial schools of the city.

It is estimated that approximately 2,000 children will be taken care of by the Knights of Columbus, this year, in this big event. It is planned to make this the largest and best event of the kind ever held by St. Mary's Council, according to Lecturer M. J. Sullivan, chairman of the committee in charge.

In the past, ladies from St. Mary's parish will have charge of decorating the Christmas tree in the K. of C. Home, which has always proven an outstanding feature of the Christmas season.

Santa Claus will be present at the home on the occasion of the distribution of the treat as in former years and will have personal supervision of the distribution. He will be glad to meet the youngsters at the Christmas tree at the home.

The treat will include candy, fruit and popcorn and the work of getting ready for the distribution is keeping a large group of people busy.

The social committee in charge of this evening consists of Lecturer M. J. Sullivan, chairman; Gerald Guinagh, Joseph Guilfoyle, George Dyer, Thomas Maher, Gayle Eagan, B. N. Hanlon, Hugh Daugherty and Willis Flynn.

The committee is also completing arrangements for the annual Knights of Columbus Christmas dancing party which will be held in the Elks' club Monday evening, December 27.

Dancing will be in vogue from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. Invitations for the event will be sent out in the near future.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

AT IT AGAIN:

The eyes of the twins flew open with surprise when in Braveheart's hand they saw the lost ear of corn. But with the wished-for prize so nearly in their grasp they forgot their promises, as lots of older folks have done.

Sniffles rushed forward.

"It is mine! I went out and gathered it!" cried he. Sniffles stood upon his hind legs and tried to reach the ear of corn with one grasping paw.

"Huh!" grunted Snuffles. "You shall not have it all. What if you did gather it! Often enough you shared the meal I brought in from the field. Selfish one. Only yesterday I divided my berry patch with you—let you pick by my side when I alone could have eaten every berry."

"Silly twins to quarrel so! If Sniffles gathered it, it belongs to him, yet if Snuffles yesterday shared with you, today he deserves half of what you have. I have spoken. There lies the ear of corn. Do with it as you will." Braveheart dropped the corn upon the ground.

And would you believe it—those naughty cubs fell not upon the ear of corn at all but upon each other! They cuffed each other well, and Sniffles—how we hate to tell it!—kicked his brother in the stomach. And this made Snuffles so mad (and we can't blame him) that he set upon his twin with might and main, and in a jiffy the twins were rolling about on the ground, mad as any two little Bears could be, scratching and biting and squealing.

THOSE NAUGHTY CUBS FELL NOT UPON THE EAR OF CORN BUT UPON EACH OTHER.

"They do, but I'm ashamed of them!" chuckled Braveheart. "They've been well brought up, too. Mother Bruin's heart would ache could she but see them now!"

"But they roll too near the edge. A bit further and they will be over the ledge."

"Hi!" cried Braveheart. "You are in danger, little brothers. Stop your quarrelling! I command it!" Braveheart leaped forwards, but he was too late.

Next: "After the Fall."

WIDOWS' CLUB CLOSES YEAR WITHOUT LOSS

(International News Service)

BERWICK, Pa., Dec. 16.—The famous Berwick Widows' Club which has been featured for years in the columns of newspapers in the east because it always has followed the rule of expelling members who got married, has closed its fiscal year without having lost a single member.

Mrs. Nellie Smethers was hostess to the club at its annual business meeting and the report showed that all widows who were listed as members had kept their oaths to politely refuse marriage for the second time.

DINNER STORIES

"What kind of a man is he—good, bad or indifferent?"

"Well, that depends a good deal on who is on the other end of the plank with him."

"Well, if you size him up with Judas Iscariot he looms up middlin' fair; but when you come to set him down between such fellows as you an' me, he does dwindle terrible surprisin'—he does, for a fact."

The speaker waxed eloquent, and after his peroration on women's rights he said, "When they take our girls, as they threaten, away from the co-educational colleges, what will follow? What will follow, I repeat?"

HAZLETON — Miners who want Christmas trees this year will have to buy them due to the fact that the Reading Coal and Iron Company has abolished its plan of issuing permits for trees. The permit plan, practiced for nearly a half century, allowed miners to cut the trees on the lands owned by the company. Unnecessary destruction of the evergreen trees, according to officials, has caused the company to discontinue the plan.

ANNOUNCE SCHEDULE FOR CITY FLOOR LEAGUE

League Divided Into Two Parts

Walter E. Kirker, Secretary Of League Announces Schedule Today.

SIX TEAMS IN FIGHT FOR TITLE

Walter E. Kirker, secretary of the city industrial league announced the playing schedule today. The program calls for a total of 85 games. The league opened last Monday night and will continue through until March 7.

Through plans authorized by the various managers the league will be divided into two sections. The first part of the schedule will close January 24. The second half of the league playing will open on January 29. The winner of the first half will meet the winner of the second half for the championship of the city industrial loop.

Six teams comprise the league this year. All the teams granted franchises have what one would call fast teams. The teams are mighty evenly balanced according to playing material and many good games are anticipated during the coming winter months.

In the opening games last Monday night the Tin Mill tossers defeated the P. & L. E. railroad boys and the Rick-Overlands topped the P. & O. passers. On this coming Saturday night the East Side Merchants and the P. R. R. tangle and the P. & O. and P. & L. E. will meet. Both should prove good contests.

Following is the complete playing schedule of the league.

December 18—East Side Merchants vs. P. R. R. P. & O. vs. P. & L. E.

December 20—E. S. Merchants vs. Rick-Overlands. P. R. R. vs. Tin Mill.

Dreyfuss Misses Train To Chicago

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 16.—Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, having failed to board the Pennsylvania flyer taking major league baseball officials to Chicago early today to attend a joint meeting, action on the Pirate owner's attack on the minor league "farm" problem will probably be deferred until Dreyfuss arrives in Chicago, it was indicated.

Dreyfuss was expected to lead a fight on the practice of major league clubs purchasing minor league teams to "farm out" likely prospects.

Among passengers on the train was Bill McKechnie, former Pirate manager, who is expected to make a bid for a similar position with one of the other major league teams.

Homer Martin Is Named For Berth At West Virginia

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 16.—Homer Martin, all-American guard on the 1922 West Virginia University football team, has been appointed by the athletic board of control of the university to succeed Joseph Setron as freshman football coach at the Mountaineer institution, it was announced today.

GRID BANQUET IS POSTPONED

Out of respect to Dr. Clyde C. Green, superintendent of city schools, who was called to Ford City on Wednesday by the death of his mother, Mrs. R. J. Green, the New Castle high school football banquet scheduled for tonight at the senior high school has been postponed.

"The banquet will very likely be held the first or second week in January," said Frank L. Orth, principal of the school, today.

DESERVES TO WIN

Riconda, Pursued By Tragedy, Still Seeks Major Berth

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Harry Riconda, once tried out by the Athletics and then by the Boston Braves, probably will play the early part of the 1927 season in the minors. He has been sent to Milwaukee along with Frank Wilson in trade for Lance Richbourg.

Riconda had made a name for himself as an outfielder with the New Haven club of the Eastern League in 1923 and in the race of big league teams for his services Connie Mack of the Athletics won out. The long leader counted on giving him a thorough tryout at third.

Then Sammy Hale joined the club and Riconda found himself forced to fight it out with Samuel for the job. The battle was being waged merrily for two months.

Then Riconda's brother disappeared while in a sailboat with two other lads around Long Island, N. Y. The tragedy broke Riconda's spirit. Hale won out. Harry was sent to the Pacific Coast.

He went so good in 1925 that Davey Bancroft's scouts recommended he be given a tryout with the Brave team. Bancroft won him on the draft that fall and he reported last spring.

He made quite an impression with Bancroft and when I talked with Bancroft at the training camp the Braves' pilot figured on using him at third.

Riconda did start the season at the last corner. Played the first three games. Then he suffered a broken leg and was forced out of the game for the season.

If there is anyone in or around the big show more persistently pursued by Joe Hoodoo than Riconda he hasn't been brought to my attention.

Tunney Near Split With Billy Gibson

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'l News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Rumors, freely aired for these several months, of Gene Tunney's intention to indulge in a bit of painless extraction upon himself in connection with his manager, Billy Gibson, were in the process of revival today and not without reason. Every indication pointed in this direction, regardless of the disclaimer vouchsafed by Tunney some time ago.

The declaration in question may serve to save Gibson's job but not his status in the champion's menace. That apparently was lost beyond recall immediately following the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia.

That Tunney may decide simply to ignore Gibson's existence either as manager or human being, remains one of several possibilities. In fact, I have reason to believe that the champion is quite satisfied with his present management, since it is being done solely by himself. Gibson doesn't even know where his man may be found from one week to another.

I asked him today where Tunney might be reached on the telephone. The best place, he seemed to think, would be "that hotel".

"What hotel?" I asked. Gibson appeared to have forgotten, which furnished a fair idea of how close this pair is.

They are so indispensable to each other, in fact, that Tunney almost remembered to take Billy along when he conferred with Jack Fugazy on a fight contract recently. It slipped his mind at the last minute, however.

Caddies cost golf players in the United States something like $12,000,000 a year.

Union High Will Open Floor Season

Union High School is all set to start off the basketball season with Ben Franklin Friday afternoon, December 17, according to Coach Burnham. This school had a football team that made a good showing all through the season, and although this is their first year at basketball, Burnham expects them to make a good showing against the more experienced teams they are to play.

The schedule for this school's team is not yet complete, but so far the following games are arranged: Friday, December 17, Ben Franklin; Wednesday, December 22, Mt. Jackson; January 1, Evans City.

The following is the probable lineup for Friday's game: Keller, Gibson or Morozek as forwards, Hughes, center, Crispy, Hofmiester or Rech, as guards. Other members of the squad who make up a very promising team are: Wallace, Funkhouser, Mottinger, Eckles, and Hannon.

In the days when John L. Sullivan was still the idol of the pugilistic world some clever schemers had a perfect imitation made of the famous $10,000 belt presented to him by Boston advisers. The belt was made of imitation gold and jewels and though it cost $1,000 the schemers cleaned up a neat little fortune exhibiting it through the country as the real $10,000 belt.

HALL of FAME

Nominating GEORGE WHITEMAN

Because he mingles with the regular gents of the game and gets a kick out of it.

Because the fact that he was bounced by the Red Sox after playing the star role in a world's series failed to sour him.

Handy Service Team In Field

The Handy Service Stores quintet composed of boys from 16 to 18 years of age, has been organized for the basketball season. The team will be represented in the boys' league at the Y. M. C. A.

The players have been practicing for the past several weeks and they hope to be in condition when the league opens next month. This is the first year for the team and the lineup is not as yet determined.

Electrics Win At Youngstown

Youngstown Municipal Team Defeated In Fast Game By Score 36-29

The P. & O. Electric team, a member of the city industrial league and also the Electric league, traveled to Youngstown on Wednesday night and defeated the Youngstown Municipal team by a score of 36 to 29.

The Ohio quintet took the lead at the start of the game and held the advantage throughout the first half. The New Castle boys led by Suber and Hood soon located the hoops in the second half and started the register with effectiveness. Colaluca was a big gun in the offense of the locals with three markers. McCormick played a stellar game at guard for the locals.

For Youngstown the work of Daly, McIntyre and McGinnis was the best.

New Castle 36		Youngstown 29
Hood	F.	McIntyre
Colaluca	F.	McGinnis
Suber	C.	Daly
McCormick	G.	Harbaugh
VanFossan	G.	Hall

Subs—Alexander for VanFossan, Cummings for McCormick, Crawford for Cummings.

Field goals—Suber 6, Hood 3, Colaluca 3, McCormick 2, Alexander, Daly 6, McIntyre 3, McGinnis 3, Harbaugh.

Referee—McCauley.

College Boys Hope For Best

Have Only One Request To Make Of Santa Claus.

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 16.—"Is there a Santa Claus?" If so, Westminster students are hoping for one thing—a winning basketball team during the coming season. The first opportunity of passing judgment on this year's array of talent will be available Thursday evening when Coach John Lawther pits his squad against the Greenville Scholastics on the home floor.

If Santa has a long list of basketball victories to hand out to the Blue and White, he certainly has been meager in his early indications. Between graduation and the failure to return of three letter men, the United Presbyterians were very hard hit and with only freshman material to build with Lawther must prove to be a veritable Hercules if a representative five is to be displayed.

In meeting the Scholastics Westminster will clash with a team composed of former college and high school stars. The visitors will have such men as Nickerson of Thiel fame; Metzgar, former star at Slippery Rock, and Dorwart and Gibson, former Greenville High men. They may have one or two other college stars in their line-up when they face Westminster.

Lawther has not yet announced his line-up. In all probability he will not until game time. He has four or five good forwards to choose from. They are: Brown, R. Thomas, W. Lewis and Coles. Centers available are Conners, Crowell, Stewart or Gamble. For guards T. Lewis, McQuiston, Logan and Kelly are ready to play.

The tip-off will take place at eight o'clock sharp.

It seems to be the same old story in the national pastime. When once they have had their fling at managing a ball club, they want to come back no matter how long they have been away from the game. The latest example is furnished by Bill Carrigan, who has been prevailed on to try the task of rejuvenating the poor old dilapidated red hose of Boston.

Judge Landis Almost Certain Of Re-Election As Baseball Commissioner

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—That Judge K. M. Landis will be invited to renew his contract as high commissioner of baseball during the joint session of major league officials here today was viewed as a "sure thing" when it became known that American league magnates, concluding a three-day pow-wow here, had passed a resolution unanimously indorsing the re-election of the grey-thatched czar.

The National league barons, who arrived this morning to attend the joint session, had passed a similar resolution at their conclave just concluded in New York.

But the surface indications of harmony may not rule at the joint session. The American league barons climaxed their meeting by electing President Ban Johnson as a member of the advisory council to serve with Commissioner Landis. The latter and Mr. Johnson are known to have certain well-defined ideas about running a major baseball league that do not coincide.

What effect Johnson's election to the advisory board will have in shaping the destiny of the present meeting, and what Commissioner Landis will say or do, remains to be seen. Johnson's strength in his own circuit indicates that a fight to curtail the powers of Commissioner Landis will be launched.

Other members of the advisory board are President John Heydler of the National league and Dale Gear, representing the minors. Johnson was nominated for the berth of Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club. Seven clubs voted for him. The White Sox alone refused to vote.

Another feature of the American league meeting was a change in the league's constitution. The high spot of these changes was one concerning the possibility of two clubs being tied for the pennant at the season's close. It was decided, in this event, to play a single game to determine the championship.

Despite rumors of many baseball trades, nothing official along this line has been recorded to date. The only announcement that hinted of a deal was that made by Jack McCallister, new manager of the Cleveland Indians, who declared he intended making a cash offer for Outfielder Kenneth Williams of the St. Louis Browns.

"Corks" Defeat Wampum Indies

Fast Armstrong Cork Team Of Beaver Falls Downs Wampum 35 To 31

The Wampum Indies lost a hard tought game to the Armstrong Corks on the Opera House floor on Tuesday night. The final score was 35 to 31. The game was one of the best played on the Wampum court in some time.

The visitors spurted at the start of the game and had a comfortable lead for the greater part of the first quarter, but the Wampumites forged one point in the lead at 14-13 as the first quarter ended. The valley quintet took the lead 25-24 at the end of the first half.

The Griffit brothers played the best game for the Corks. D. Griffit caged eight baskets and his brother accounted for a pair of them. For Wampum the work of Captain Boone was the most consistent, while Ferrucci put up a fine guarding game. The Wampum team greatly missed the work of Patterson, who was out of the lineup.

The lineup and summary:

Wampum 31		Arm. Corks 25
Boone	F.	W. Griffit
Hennon	F.	D. Griffit
Blythe	C.	Ludwig
Ferrucci	G.	Brockhouse
Grinnen	G.	Carouthers

Field goals—Boone 6, Hennon 2, Blythe 4, Ferrucci, W. Griffit 2, D. Griffit 8, Ludwig 3.

Referee—J. Blythe.

Club dues are estimated to cost the golf players in the United States between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 a year.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

HEAVY hangs the head that wears a crown is something Gene Tunney is learning about. He was arrested, threatened to arrest somebody else and is now defendant in an $18,000 suit filed by Tim Mara. Mara bases his claims on his efforts to land Tunney the titular fight with Jack Dempsey. Billy Gibson claims Mara's agreement was with him and not Tunney.

THE American league has restored Ban Johnson to the full power and authority they took from him two years ago at the behest of Judge Landis. He was named to the advisory board which the big leagues want revived. Two years ago only Phil Ball stuck to Johnson. After Johnson left the board Landis took scant notice of two representatives of the major leagues who were supposed to counsel him on league matters.

FOOTBALL is the only profitable sport at Yale, according to a report of the athletic treasurer. Football has to pave the way for deficits in other sports. During 1925, Yale realized a net income of $358,968.-73. Hockey and the rifle team made a few dollars.

THE coal region is torn by another strike; in this case it is a walkout by professional football players with the Pottsville team. They claim they want salaries which has not been paid. It is claimed some players claim $1,100, each. Stein, Brown and Flanagan, former Pitt gridders are on the eleven.

Regals Defeat Trojans 21-16

The Regals led by a score of 9 to 8 at the end of the first half and spurted to assume a big lead in the closing periods. "Red" Ginsberg and "Sack" Levine were the big stars for the Regals while the playing of Geddis and Craig was the best for the Trojans.

Coraopolis Y To Meet Local Y

Plans are complete for the meet between New Castle and Coraopolis Y. M. C. A.s, according to Walter Kirker, physical director of the New Castle Y.

This meet will be held Monday, December 27, at the local Y.

C. E. Forest of the Coraopolis Y has worked out the events with Kirker, and as they stand now, all events will be held in the boys' ranks, including five basketball games, pool events, ping pong, checkers, chess, and it is now thought that there may be a wrestling bout.

As this meet will be held on the day that the Industrial League will be having a game, it will be necessary to hold all gym events between the halves of the industrial games.

In the season of 1901 the University of Michigan football team amassed a total of 550 points to none for their opponents. But "them days are gone forever" in college football.

The Brothers O'Brien By Feg Murray

If you happened to be numbered among the 130,000 odd souls (some of them were very odd) who sat through the driving rain at the Sesqui Stadium last September, you no doubt saw a very athletic man of apparently thirty-five summers, who acted as one of the champion's chief seconds. In many ways he looked more like a champion than Jack Dempsey himself did, and you no doubt envied him, his clear skin, keen eyes, and bulging muscles. (All this, of course, if you sat near enough to see the aforementioned c. s., k. e. and b. m.)

That man was Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, former world's middleweight champion, one of the scientific marvels of all time, a victor in 250 or more ring battles! You'd never believe that the big fellow is nearly fifty years old, but he is, and years of careful living and teaching others how to live right and exercise right have kept him in wonderful shape. Jack and his younger brother run two successful gymnasiums in New York City, and by the "O'Brien's Health System, Inc." impart their own vigor, health, and enthusiasm to countless hundreds of tired business men and worn-out ex-athletes.

Brothers have often achieved fame in the prize ring, and in the same breath with the Gibboneses and the Sullivans, mention must always be made of the O'Briens. Joseph F. and John T. Hagan were but two of a family of twelve children, and John, arriving nearly seventeen years after his oldest brother, couldn't be blamed for patterning his career on that of Philadelphia Jack O'Brien (for such was the name that Joseph F. adopted) and calling himself "Young Jack O'Brien.)

Between them they fought four hundred bouts—Big Jack taking on such famous gladiators as Jim Jeffries, Peter Maher, Joe Choynski, Tommy Ryan, Jack (Twin) Sullivan, Kid McCoy, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Burns, Stanley Ketchel, Jack Johnson, and Sam Langford; while Little Jack fought such men as Ad Wolgast, Freddy Welsh, Ted Lewis, Kid Graves, K. O. Brown, and Leach Cross. Jack O'Brien never weighed over 159 while Young Jack tipped the scales at from 130 to 138. Each having beaten a big negro named Joe Butler, who weighed 240 pounds, they fought each other for the family championship last winter, and the 32-year old O'Brien had to admit that his 49-year old brother was still there with his mitts.

Feg Murray Says—

The Goal Dust Twins—Mike Wilson, of Lafayette, and Mort Kaer, of the University of Southern California.

Sir Joseph Duveen, who has come into the public eye by paying a record price for a single painting—$360,000—is the present head of one of the most famous art firms which ever existed, a firm with a world-wide reputation as dealers in all sorts of antique and artistic wares. First of the Duveens to attract attention was the late Sir Joseph Duveen, uncle of the present bearer of the same name and title, who established himself in the seventies, in Oxford Street, London, in a small shop, where he sold old Dutch potteries and later period furniture. He had a natural intuition for discerning the artistic worth of things, and he prospered. Some forty years or more ago, at a time when the United States was beginning to respond to the influences of art, the firm opened a branch in New York, where it soon established a clientele among the foremost art buyers in America.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

American league fans in particular and the baseball bugs of the country in general are waiting to see what Bill Carrigan will do with the Boston Red Sox when he starts rounding that team into shape next season.

Carrigan's fighting temperament made him immensely popular in 1915 and 1916 when he gave the Boston fans championship baseball and the fans still remember his pugnacious manner and general zip.

Unless years have made him more gentle this aggressiveness will be much more noticeable the coming season because of the fact that Bill's general temperament is the direct antithesis of that of Lee Fohl, his predecessor.

Fohl was sincere and earnest but lacked fire, dash and the power to drive his team. Carrigan's middle name is "drive".

Mays says that after the Red Sox had lost three games in a row at the beginning of the 1915 campaign Owner Jim Lanin came to the dressing room. He literally burst into the roomful of players and demanded to know from Carrigan why the team was losing and why a certain pitcher had not been asked to work.

Carrigan let Lanin finish his demands and then quietly called the boys together for a meeting. He even placed a chair in the center of the room for Lanin.

"Then," says Mays, "Carrigan opened up." He said:

"'Mr. Lanin, you're the owner of this team. I'm the manager. You own but I run it. The reason the team isn't winning games is my business. The reason the pitcher isn't working is my business. He isn't being used because I don't believe he's in shape. Why he isn't in shape is my business. When he is I'll use him and not before. This is my clubhouse, not yours—my team to manage, not yours. The next time you come in here to tell me how to manage it you'll be thrown out and I'll do the throwing.'"

Apparently Lanin saw the light. At least, Mays says, the club owner taken rather aback for a minute, finally grinned and said, "Well, I guess you know your business," and went out.

Mays could have no ulterior motive in telling the story at this time. And it sounds like Carrigan.

Charge Attempt To Loot Booths

(International News Service)

FITCHBURG, Mass., Dec. 16.—With the arrest today of Roy Fowler, of Bartow, Florida, and Dulane, Kentucky, and Stanley Heckman, of Mahanoy City, Penna., police believe they have nipped a clever scheme which has probably been used to loot telephone booth boxes all over the country.

Fowler, alias Henry A. Myers, carried a small triangular shaped needle when he came out of a telephone booth here with his pockets filled with coins, according to police. Heckman was found by police in a rooming house and was arrested as a suspicious person.

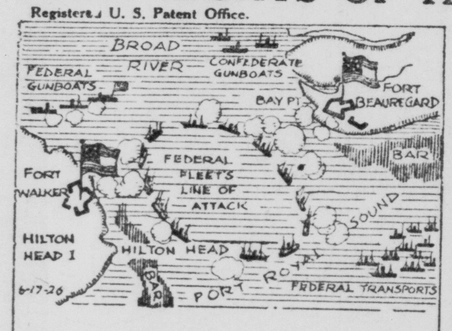
Registered U. S. Patent Office. © McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Attack on the Port Royal Forts.



ON THE MORNING OF NOVEMBER 7, 1861, THE UNION FLEET OF COMMODORE DUPONT CLEARED FOR ACTION AND SAILED INTO PORT ROYAL SOUND, LED BY THE FLAGSHIP "WABASH", TO ATTACK THE CONFEDERATE FORTS ON HILTON HEAD AND BAY POINT.

FOR HOURS THE CONFEDERATES BRAVELY STOOD THE CRUSHING BOMBARDMENT, THEIR GUNS REPLYING DEFIANTLY AND DEALING MUCH INJURY TO THE UNION VESSELS. AT LAST, WITH THE FORTS IN RUINS, THE GARRISONS RETREATED, PURSUED BY THE SHELLS FROM THE FEDERAL WARSHIPS.

LATE THAT AFTERNOON, FEDERAL TROOPS FROM THE FLEET LANDED ON HILTON HEAD AND BAY POINT AND TOOK POSSESSION OF THE BATTERED FORTS. AMONG THE DEMOLISHED FORTIFICATIONS WERE MANY EVIDENCES OF THE EFFECTIVENESS OF THE UNION SHELL-FIRE AND THE GALLANTRY OF THE DEFENDERS.

TOMORROW—THE FEDERALS AT PORT ROYAL.

N. Y. STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Vigorous buying of United States Steel stock at 156, and higher, compared with yesterday's closing price of 154⅝, was the outstanding feature of early trading today. In the current "move" which Wall Street believes reflects "inside buying," the stock has recovered about 14 points, and is now within 3 points of its record high price.

The move in the Independent Oil stocks on the big board and the Standard Oils on the curb gained considerable headway, with representative stocks, like Humble Oil, Mid-Continent, Sinclair Consolidated, Marland, Pan American, Lago and Pure Oil crowding the tape with reports of heavy trading at steadily advancing prices.

Stock of Doheny's Pan American Western Petroleum Company advanced 3 points to 40¾ following announcement of Mr. Doheny's acquittal. Vigorous comebacks were scored by Nash Motors, Federal Traction and other of last week's performers.

Railroad stocks were quiet and specialties inactive.

$43,000 WON BY WIDOW AS STORK VISITS HER

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 16.—A verdict of $43,000 for the death of her husband was returned in supreme court in favor of Mrs. Sadie Rayanka of Yonkers, a few minutes after she gave birth to a child in a Yonkers hospital.

Kill The Robbers Is Detroit Order

Police Are Warned To Curb Crime Or Look To Their Jobs

DETROIT, Dec. 16.—"Catch or kill, and don't hesitate to kill," was the decree issued to the police force today by Commissioner William P. Rutledge, following wholesale slayings by robbers over the week-end.

"Pay no attention to the prohibition laws," was another of the drastic orders given. Commissioner Rutledge told the force not to bother with drunks or minor cases, but to confine their activities to the capture or killing of gunmen.

"Two hundred patrolmen were in recorder's courts this morning with drunks and minor cases when they should be out searching for gunmen," Rutledge declared. "Send the drunks home."

Definite orders to curb crime or suffer dismissal or reduction in rank were given by Supt. James Sprott at a meeting of all police inspectors.

The entire department will immediately go on a 12-hour shift instead of the usual eight hours and this will mean that the number of active men on duty at one time will be increased by one-third.

Patrolmen now doing clerical or inside work have been given a gun and ordered into the streets to kill the killers.

Brewster Buys Bride New Home In Hollywood

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—A home in Hollywood as a Christmas present for his bride, the former Corliss Palmer, has just been bought by Eugene V. Brewster, millionaire publisher. Brewster himself let it be known here today.

At the same time Brewster announced he would immediately retire as head of the Brewster group of motion picture magazines and devote his time to writing.

"Miss Palmer has been put in a false light from the beginning," Brewster explained today. 'Instead of being an adventuress and a home-breaker she is and always has been quite the opposite.

"The worst thing she ever did in her whole life was to fall in love with me about six years ago and stick to me through thick and thin, often when her interests lay in another direction."

Minister Gets Dog Catching Job In Conneaut

CONNEAUT, O., Dec. 16.—A local minister is the city's new dog catcher. He is Rev. B. K. Robbins pastor of the Pentecostal Holiness church here named by the Conneaut board of health at a recent meeting. A dog pound will be maintained by Rev. Robbins at the new city building on Sixteenth street. Stray dogs will be kept at the pound for 24 hours during which time they will be given care. After that period they will be shot.

Former Cashier Of Conneautville Bank Is Pardoned

MEADVILLE, Pa., Dec. 16.—Judson T. Snodgrass, cashier of the First National Bank of Conneautville, which failed to open on January 30, 1922, has been granted a pardon from his sentence in the Western Penitentiary by order of Governor Gifford Pinchot, at Harrisburg.

Snodgrass was sentenced in the Crawford County Courts on February 10, 1922, a prison term of from 10 to 14 years being imposed by Judge Thomas J. Prather on three charges. Two of the charges specified forgery, with sentence in each instance to be from five to six years. On a third charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods, he was sentenced to from one to two years. Each of the sentences were to run concurrently, approximately four and a half of his minimum term of 10 years having expired at the date of pardon.

The failure of the Bank of Conneautville in 1922 was one of the most severe financial blows Crawford county has ever sustained, hundreds of farmers in the western part of the county being hard hit by the failure. Snodgrass was found guilty along with several others with misappropriating funds of the bank.

MAN, STRUCK BY TRAIN, IS BORNE 200 FEET; UNHURT

THE NEW CASTLE NEWS DISPLAY ADS ARE READ BY 90,000 DAILY

STATISTICS show that of all the failures in the United States last year, eighty-five per cent did not advertise. The answer is obvious. Every successful merchant and manufacturer advertises. And that is one of the reasons for success. For local advertising The News, is the best medium. It goes into the homes of all classes—homes that constitute the buyers you wish to reach.

Stenographer Held For Perjury Freed By 'Ignorance' Plea

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16.—Miss Leah Kornberg, 22, stenographer, held on a charge of perjury during an election fraud hearing last week, was discharged today by Magistrate Violet E. Fahnestock. The young woman explained she did not understand politics and elections and became confused about distinguishing between registering and voting. Magistrate Fahnestock advised her to join the League of Women Voters "and get educated along these lines."

Boak Is Named For Grange Office

LAWRENCE COUNTY MEN ON COMMITTEES

A lively election is expected today at the annual session of the Pennsylvania State Grange meeting at Lancaster, Pa. Nominations were made yesterday and the election will be held today. Officers for 1927 of the State Grange will be elected. J. A. Boak of Lawrence county has been nominated for overseer and may be elected today.

Of the standing and special committees to serve during the coming year two Lawrence county men are represented: Rankin Johnson on the committee of Education and John F. Miller on the committee of Juvenile granges.

Dewey's Address

In his annual address, P. H. Dewey, master of the State grange, declared himself in favor of continuing the direct primary system for making nominations for public office. He also admonished members of the grange to beware of any referendum on the Volstead act.

Mr. Dewey said: "To any who have ever had the experience of going through both the convention form and the primary form of obtaining nominations, there would seem to be no room for argument against the primary".

"The primary may not be all that may be desired . . . . . but the old convention and delegate system carried with it all the opportunities for spending funds, for bribery and corruption, including many temptations for night riding for the purpose of fixing the delegates, beyond any possible opportunity furnished by the primary system."

Of Volstead Act

Of the Volstead act Mr. Dewey said: "No one ought to expect a business that is as old as the very universe to be put out of sight and every one engaged in the business of dispensing and drinking to be punished over night. It takes time to accomplish an undertaking of such magnitude, and if people would be fair in drawing conclusions, it ought not take long to agree that the Volstead act has been enforced about as well as other laws we have on the statute books."

Mr. Dewey reports that no perceptible advance has been made in membership, yet the membership is more stable, loyal, devoted and dependable than heretofore. Nine new granges have been added as well as 24 new Juvenile granges. A dozen new grange halls have been built representing thousands of dollars in expenditure.

Some 40 grangers from Lawrence county are attending the convention. The State grange is made up of more than 900 subordinate granges distributed among all of the 67 counties of the state. There are also 57 Pamona or county granges, together with 77 Juvenile granges. The program will end this evening with the installation of officers.

Gi ls! Bu te milk C eates Beauty Overnight

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It creates beauty almost like magic, but the most wonderful thing about it is the fact that while it turns the dullest, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

It is absolutely harmless and will neither produce nor stimulate the growth of hair. Furthermore, you will find it the most perfect base for powder. Within twenty-four hours this wonderful combination will work a marvelous transformation.

Fire Sweeps Through Hotel Apartment

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 16. — Two thousand guests at the Hotel Ansonia were driven to the street in their night clothes early today when fire swept through the apartment of Dr. and Mrs. Graham Lustgarten, of New York and Miami, on the tenth floor of the building.

The flames were confined to the one suite, but the entire structure was filled with dense smoke, and panic was barely averted as the guests were taken to the ground floor in the elevators.

Dr. Lustgarten is now in Miami.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 16. — Edward Bruce, 30, Braddock, was killed and three companions were injured here today when an automobile crashed into a telephone pole.

Bruce, driver of the car, was lifted unconscious from the wreckage and removed to a hospital where he died of a fractured skull two hours later.

Cecila Hozier, 28, and Catherine Horn, 22, both of Knoxville, a suburb, were taken to the hospital suffering from internal injuries. Paul Dowling, 30, of Swissvale, reported to be the fourth occupant of the car, sought medical attention after taking his companions to a nearby physician's office, police said.

POWDER PUFF IS CAUSE OF WRECK

SOUTHWESTVILLE, N. J., Dec. 16.—A lady's powder puff today wrecked a big motor bus and caused injuries to five passengers. A woman passenger dropped the powder puff on alighting. The vehicle started again as another passenger spied the puff, picked it up and handed it to the driver. The heavy bus lurched from the driver's control, swerved across the road and overturned.

Pinchot Approves Payroll Increases

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 16.—Increased in salary effecting 731 state employes have been approved by Governor Gifford Pinchot, K. M. Breidenfeld, personnel director, announced today. The increases effect 18.8 per cent of the total number of employes.

Sixty per cent, or 438, of those receiving increases were receiving annual salaries of less than $1500, 227 went to those whose salaries are less than $3,000 and 62 to those in the $3,000 to $5,000 classification.

The increases in payrolls for all departments totaled $72,480 per year of 1.1 per cent of the total annual payroll.

The majority of increases were $120 a year. One of the largest increases went to R. W. Doty, chief bank examiner in the Philadelphia district. Peter Cameron, secretary of banking in recommending the increase, said he had been doing "outstanding work." He will receive $5,500, an increase of $740 a year.

POLICE CHIEF IS FREED OF ASSAULT

KANE, Pa., Dec. 16.—Richard T. Fowler, former chief of police of Kane and later chief of police at Mt. Jewett, was found not guilty of charge of assault and battery with intent to kill in court here today. The charge was preferred by Emile Johnson of Mt. Jewett who alleged Fowler beat him after placing him under arrest last April at Mt. Jewett. Fowler contended that Johnson was drunk and disorderly and resisted arrest. The costs were placed on Johnson.
